'Thank God Almighty... I'm Free'

Cauthen

SPOKANE (AP)—"Thank God Almighty, I'm free."

The words of an old Negro spiritual came back to Charles Cauthen when he heard Monday Gov. Albert Rosellini had refused to extradite him to Georgia to face the electric chair on a charge of murder.

One of Cauthen's attorneys, Carl Maxey, said the 26-year-old Negro "almost fainted" when told the news in his Spokane county jail cell.

Maxey said Cauthen will return to Warden, Wash., as soon as he is released by U.S. district Judge Charles Powell and possibly will work on a farm in the vicinity.

Rosellini said he had refused to honor the extradition request of Georgia Gov. Carl Sanders.

"It is my feeling there is serious doubt as to the guilt of this young man," Rosellini said. "I feel the best ends of justice are met by denying the application for his extradition and by allowing him to remain in this state."

Rosellini, however, placed Cauthen under the supervision of the state parole board.

Cauthen escaped jail in Sebulon, Ga., three days before he was scheduled to be executed in 1959. He was convicted of robbing and killing a white service station operator, Elijah Perkins, at Griffin, Ga.

After his escape, Cauthen rode freight trains north and ended in Warden, where he worked as a farm hand.

When the FBI arrested him on fugitive charges last summer, Cauthen claimed he was innocent of the Georgia killing and the people of Warden, mainly farmers, came to his defence.

A battery of attorneys and the American Civil Liberties Union helped him fight extradition, and college students of the area held a benefit "hootenanny" to help defray expenses.

Romanian Peacemakers

Reds Fail to Patch Sino-Soviet Fight

MOSCOW (AP)—A delegation from Communist Romania talked to Soviet Premier Khrushchev Monday on the way back from what was believed to have been a peace-making mission to Peking. And there was strong indication the Romanians carried bad news.

While the Romanians met Khrushchev at Gagra on the Black Sea, Communist China renewed its attack on the Soviet leadership. So did Albania, Peking's ideological ally in Europe.

Impossible at this time and Khrushchev will speak out soon. Some international Communist leaders believe peace in the camp is impossible.

The Romanian delegation, headed by Premier Gheorghe Maurer, flew to Gagra Sunday, after a week's stay in China.

Soviet sources said they made the trip with the knowledge of Soviet party leaders who have been seeking a way out of the increasingly bitter deadlock between Chinese and Soviet Communist party leaders.

During the period of the Romanian visit, the Chinese broadcast no attacks. Earlier they had assailed Khrushchev unrelentingly.

The moment the Romanians left, the attacks were resumed.

Williston Unimpressed

Vast Water Plan Labelled Fantasy

A $100,000,000, 30-year plan to harness power from "wasted" water that flows into the Arctic and Pacific Oceans, was outlined yesterday by a Los Angeles-based engineering and construction service company and described as pure fantasy by B.C. Water Resources Minister Williston.

Mr. Williston said the proposal, known as the North American Water and Power Alliance plan, wouldn't affect provincial hydro plans at all. He did not take it seriously.

Was it within the realm of possibility a reporter asked him? It was in the realm of pure fantasy, he replied.

Wipe Out Fishery He said it would wipe out the West coast salmon fishery and most of the U.S. Columbia River power installations.

The plan, which calls for co-operation among the governments of Canada, the U.S. and Mexico, says the Ralph M. Parsons Company would "utilize the excess water of the north-western territories and distribute it to the water-scarce areas of Canada, the western United States and northern Mexico in sufficient quantities to assure adequate supplies for the next 100 years."

The NAWPA proposes the collection of about 20 per cent of surplus water from the Fraser, Yukon, Peace, Athabasca and other rivers of Alberta, B.C. and Yukon Territory. It would be elevated a short distance to flow southward through a giant tunnel and canal system.

HOLD-OVER STORAGE A 500-mile-long reservoir 3,000 feet up in the Rocky Mountain Trench near Banff and Jasper National Parks would provide a hold-over storage, says the plan.

The company estimates that the scheme would produce a gross annual income of $4,000,000,000 from the sale of 100,000,000 kilowatts of power, 147,000,000 acre feet of irrigation water and 37,000,000 acre feet for industrial and municipal use.

Schooldays Budget

WAIT TILL '65

OTTAWA (CP)—A stand-pat schooldays budget unveiled last night in the Commons by Finance Minister Walter Gordon left income and sales tax rates unchanged and aimed at a one-third cut in the budgetary deficit to $455,000,000 in the 1964-5 fiscal year starting April 1.

The reason Mr. Gordon's budget contained so few tax changes, he said, was that the government had decided to postpone major changes until it gets the report of the royal commission on taxation later this year.

He added that important changes in tax legislation can be expected next year and the year after that.

Boys Toss Bomb

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—RCMP said Monday three boys played "chicken" with a live mortar bomb for 30 minutes before turning it over to police.

The boys found the two-inch bomb about 50 feet down an embankment at Kalamalka Lake south of here while on a cycling trip Sunday.

They tossed the bomb to each other, yelling "chicken", for 30 minutes before one of them persuaded the others to turn it over to RCMP.

POLICE FRIEND Police called bomb disposal experts. They said one of the boys was a friend of two Boy Scouts killed by a mortar bomb near here last year.

Capt. D. R. Yeomans of the army's disposal squad here repeated warnings that persons finding the Second World War bombs should not touch them but report them to authorities.

The extension of the monthly $10 family allowance to full-time students age 16 and 17 was the most spectacular item in Mr. Gordon's second budget speech.

Detailed coverage of the budget and Mr. Gordon's speech to the Commons will be found on pages 8 and 9.

His budget benefits were relatively scanty: $5,000,000 worth of tax reductions and $43,000,000 of extra spending in a full year for the added family allowances.

Mr. Gordon, urging increased investment in Canadian industry by all Canadians, announced there will be legislation later this year allowing life insurance companies to invest more of their assets in equity stocks.

The present limit is 15 per cent of their assets in stocks, with a requirement that preferred stocks have a five-year record of dividends and that common stocks have a seven-year dividend record.

Ruling out over-all incentives for the growing economy—including any copying of the massive United States income tax cuts—Mr. Gordon adopted a "spot removal" approach to the problems of depressed areas.

SAME TIME At the same time Mr. Gordon disclosed a retreat from last year's budget measures aimed at encouraging foreign-controlled companies in Canada to make available a minimum 25 per cent of stock in those companies to Canadian investors.

He wiped out the increase that was to have taken effect next Jan. 1 in the withholding tax on earnings moved out of Canada from companies which don't meet that objective. The tax was to have risen to 20 per cent from 15.

KEPT CARROT While removing this "stick," he retained last year's "carrot"—the cut in the tax to 10 per cent for companies making available the desired 25-per-cent junior partnership to Canadians.

Mr. Gordon said that because of the prospective reduction in U.S. corporation tax rates, there will still be "a sufficiently strong inducement" to achieve his goal.

TAX EASEMENT Mr. Gordon's budget changes didn't touch taxes on tobacco or alcoholic products, except for a tax easement allowing imported Scotch whisky to enter Canada in 25-ounce bottles.

There was no firm word on when family allowances will be extended to 16 and 17-year-olds staying at school. Mr. Gordon said legislation on this will be introduced after Parliament's Easter recess which ends in April.

Informants indicated the change won't be until Sept. 1. The allowance — $6 monthly for children under 10 and $8 for older ones up to their 16th birthday—would be $10 between the 16th and 18th birthdays. The deduction from taxable income for the parent—$550 for children

A party of senior UN and Cypriot officials exchanged appreciative murmurs as the men, from the 1st Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment, lined up at stiff attention under the glare of television lights and popping flashbulbs.

They ran across the tarmac to line up by the side of an RCAP Yukon aircraft for inspection by the acting commander of the

Turks Will Go If Need Arises

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI)—The Turkish grand assembly Monday authorized Premier Ismet Inonu to dispatch troops to Cyprus should the need arise, Ankara radio reported.

The assembly endorsed the motion by Inonu which called for the possible landing of troops under the 1960 treaty of guarantee that granted Cyprus independence and was signed by Greece, Turkey and Britain.

The move followed Turkey's withdrawal of its threat Friday to intervene on the island in one of the tensest moments in the crisis since fighting flared on Cyprus last Christmas.

Behan Fights For Life

DUBLIN (UPI)—Playwright Brendan Behan, so critically ill he received the last sacraments of the Roman Catholic Church Sunday night, is emerging slowly from a deep coma in a "great fight" for his life, a hospital spokesman said Monday.

The spokesman cautioned that the 41-year-old writer "is still gravely ill and very much on the critical list." He said Behan is "just about conscious" and "we would give him a 50-50 chance of living."

Behan was admitted to Meath Hospital last Tuesday for treatment of jaundice.

Panama Talks Stymied

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. and Panama split Monday over whether they had reached an agreement calling for resumption of diplomatic relations and new talks aimed at settling the canal zone dispute.

Addressing the Organization of American States, President Johnson amazed many Latin Americans by declaring there had not yet been "a genuine meeting of the minds" between him and Panama President Chari on the point.

MEDIATION TEAM

Those present included the members of the five-nation OAS mediation team which announced Sunday Panama and the U.S. had agreed to renew relations and begin talks on all issues. U.S. sources had denied this statement shortly after it was made public.

After Johnson's statement one Latin American diplomat was heard to say: "Now we really don't know what is going on." Members of the mediation group called a meeting to "see what can be done in the new situation."

Los Angeles Suburbs Singed

Fires Hit Subdivisions

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two wind-whipped brush fires broke out in hilly, populous suburbs Monday, burning homes, menacing hundreds of others, blackening hundreds of acres and racing on uncontrolled in tinder-dry brush.

About 2,300 acres in this area of the Los Angeles basin were threatened. One fire destroyed a $30,000 new home and heavily damaged another in the old, exclusive Chevy Chase Drive section northwest of Glendale and Los Angeles. Another swept over the Verdugo Hills and burned down into northern Glendale, setting four $60,000-$75,000 homes afire in a new subdivision midway down the slope. From 25 to 50 other homes there were threatened.

This fire, which started in a residential area known as Whiting Woods, farther north, was raging on a three-mile front.

FURIOUS FLAMES

Fire departments of Glendale, Burbank and Los Angeles city and county threw 500 men and 75 pieces of equipment into the fight against the furious flames.

The Verdugo Hills fire crackled through brush toward densely populated dead-end Glendale streets abutting against the foot-hills. Firemen could be heard calling over their radio communications for more assistance on five of these streets.

The rash of flames broke out amid howling winds in the Verdugo Hills, separating the adjacent communities of Burbank and Glendale, and turned them into a nightmare of flames.

Ocean Quake Jiggles Big European Area

TOLEDO, Spain (UPI)—The Spanish National Geophysical observatory said Monday an earthquake which shook Spain, Portugal and North Africa Sunday night was centered far under the Atlantic Ocean.

The tremor rocked most of southern and part of central Spain. One house collapsed at Algeciras.

An observatory spokesman said the epicentre was "perhaps 100 miles beneath the surface" of the Atlantic to the southwest of the Iberian peninsula. He said it probably was felt over such a wide area because of its great depth.

No deaths were reported, but in Vila Nova de Cacela in Portugal about 50 persons were injured rushing from a movie house.

FLEE HOMES

The quake lasted about 12 seconds in Tangier, Morocco, but caused no damage there. But many Tangier and Rabat inhabitants left their homes and spent the night in the open.

People rushed into the streets in Lisbon and southern Portuguese towns, remembering the recent tremors in the Azores and the devastating quake of 1755 which wrecked Lisbon. Walls cracked at Tavira.

It was the heaviest tremor in the area since Nov. 25, 1941.

Five States Starting Ohio Flood Cleanup

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—After a week-long battle against the bloated Ohio River, residents of five states worked today to clean up a flood that has caused an estimated $100,000,000 damage and has claimed a dozen lives.

Federal planners joined with governments of Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania to help the estimated 110,000 persons affected by the worst Ohio River Valley flood in 19 years.

The crest of the Ohio surged downriver and passed Owensboro, Ky., and Evansville, Ind.

National Tieup

U.S. 'On Verge' Of Rail Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chief railway negotiator J. E. Wolfe said yesterday the U.S. is on "the verge of a national railroad strike."

Wolfe said five railway unions created the new strike threat by bypassing national negotiations and seeking separate talks with two individual railways.

STRIKE SEEN

"We have unimpeachable advice that the unions do intend to strike Wednesday" against the two railways, Wolfe said at a press conference.

Wolfe released a copy of a letter the railway negotiators delivered to Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz Sunday.

PUBLIC DISASTER

"We respectfully ask that you move promptly to prevent the unions from turning private disputes into public disaster," the letter says.

A labor department observer at Wolfe's press conference said there would be no immediate comment from Wirtz.

REACTION DUE

Wolfe said that if the unions carry out plans to strike the Southern Pacific or the Louisville and Nashville, the other railways will immediately impose proposed wage and other work rules changes across the U.S.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months. This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H. In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids. Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator). Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded.

U.S. Opens War on Poverty

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson yesterday launched a $662,500,000 war on poverty aimed chiefly at helping 16 to 21-year-olds escape slum conditions and become productive U.S. citizens.

The program would centre on a job corps reminiscent of the Civilian Conservation Corps of the 1930s.

Johnson told Congress the corps would enlist up to 100,000 young men—draft rejects and school dropouts—who would be removed from poverty-stricken backgrounds and placed in camps to work on conservation projects and in special job training centres for a blend of training, basic education and work experience.

Co-ordinating the war on poverty will be a new agency, the Office of Economic Opportunities, headed by Peace Corps chief Sargent Shriver, Johnson's apparent choice for vice-president.

Shriver will create a domestic peace corps, the Volunteers for America with 3,000 to 5,000 members, to wage the war.

Johnson indicated in a TV interview Sunday he does not favor Robert Kennedy for vice-president. He also disowned former Democratic aide Bobby Baker, now in financial trouble, saying Baker never was his protégé.

He suggested his government might be known as the "Better Deal" administration.

Fiesta Welcome Given de Gaulle

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—President de Gaulle arrived yesterday on a state visit aimed at restoring French prestige and influence in Latin America. He immediately reassured the United States the visit is "against no one."

De Gaulle was given a tumultuous fiesta welcome by more than 1,000,000 Mexicans who showered him and President Adolfo Lopez Mateos with confetti and ticker tape during a triumphal drive from the airport and through the city.

He had been in Mexico only moments when he gave his reassurance that his visit is aimed only at strengthening relations and increasing co-operation between Mexico and France which he said have contributions to make to "progress and peace" in the universe.

"This meeting," he said, turning to Lopez Mateos, "as you have said, is a meeting against no one."

In welcoming de Gaulle, the Mexican president called any Franco-Mexican alliance one that "is informal and without protocol and it is not against anyone or anything, but exclu-

Do-Nothing Budget

APART from extending the family allowance payments to full-time students of 16 and 17, and the cutting out of the duty on imported bread, Finance Minister Walter Gordon's second budget is as unimaginative, non-controversial and wishy-washy, as his first was charged with vigor and unorthodoxy.

The impression is left that the Liberal government's inner cabinet has tamed its economic wizard, and has turned thumbs down on any further excursion into Gordonian flights of economic fancy.

The government is clearly determined it will not again be subjected to the humiliation suffered last June when an angry Commons later decimated Mr. Gordon's first budget (produced in the prime minister's sixty days of action) until it was almost unrecognizable.

This debate, agonizing though it must have been to Mr. Gordon, was preferred by the government to a defeat in the House. But clearly they have no intention of suffering the agonies again.

With minority rule continuing to prevail, the Liberals have now convinced Mr. Gordon that this must be a "safe" one, so that the party may remain in power for at least another session.

So Mr. Gordon has produced a budget from which he will probably have to make no withdrawals, because he has suggested nothing new from which to withdraw. From a man who only a few months ago said Canada's economy must be given a thoroughly good shake-down it is almost an inconceivable contradiction.

Excepting the laudable motive of encouraging young people to continue longer with their studies, what has this budget produced to provide incentive to industry; what has it done to prepare for an eventual balancing of the budget; what has it done to encourage development of new industry?

The answer must be—nil.

Out of a mountain of presumed labor, Mr. Gordon has brought forth a mouse. Is this the best work the economic genius who was going to save "Troubled Canada" can do?

It is in truth the do-nothingest budget in Canadian history.

If this is the price Canadians have to pay for keeping the minority government in power, then it is time the opposition took the chance on another election, and routed trepidity.

An Obligation Met

ONCE AGAIN Canada has demonstrated her willingness to accept the United Nations as the supreme arbiter of international disputes. At no small sacrifice she has fulfilled her obligation as a member of the organization by dispatching Canadian troops to one of the world's major trouble spots where they will come under the direct authority of the United Nations Command.

Though Canadians all will share Prime Minister Pearson's pride that Canada was the first nation to commit her troops to the UN Cyprus force many will also join in his criticism of the situation which he so succinctly summed up Saturday with these words: "How long are we to improvise to do the job that should be done by the United Nations as a whole?"

Today the United Nations has a membership of well over 100 countries—both large and small, both old and new—each equal to the other under the United Nations Charter. No single member nation is entitled to any more rights or any more votes in the General Assembly than any other, regardless of the size of its population, the extent of its territory, whether it be a major power, a demonstrably irresponsible nation or a backward state teetering on the brink of bankruptcy.

In latter years the world has viewed the sad spectacle of the majority of member nations jealously and vociferously claiming their rights under the Charter while at the same time exhibiting a stubborn reluctance to assume any of the responsibilities incumbent upon their memberships.

Happily, Canada has never been among those who pay lip service only to the United Nations. And today, as the yesterdays before, she can hold her head high in honor.

Hodge-Podge

ONE OF THE suggestions put forward after three groups of hardy citizens tramped through Saturday's rain to take a look at James Bay and consider its past, present and future was that the province should soon acquire the land it will need for integrated expansion of the government buildings.

No doubt it is too late now for an outlay of this magnitude to be made in the next fiscal year; there was no allowance for it in the budget. The suggestion though is good advice that Premier Bennett and his colleagues could well give favorable consideration before the next session of the legislature.

For some years now there have been fairly detailed plans for development of the "government precinct," bounded in the current concept by Belleville, Oswego, Michigan and Douglas, including new buildings and landscaping. Purchase of the privately-owned land in this area or such of it as has not already been employed commercially would put a stop to imical new uses, such as motels and apartment blocks.

For that matter an actual start on the construction of new office buildings in accordance with the precinct plan is increasingly overdue. A museum is in the offing, to be built as a Confederation centennial memorial with federal aid. And the beautifying work undertaken by the Capital Improvement District Commission in recent years is not to be belittled.

But the hodge-podge of "temporary" and makeshift provincial administrative accommodation in the vicinity of the legislative buildings cries out for commencement of an orderly program of permanent office-block construction. The present haphazard arrangement can hardly be efficient, nor economical to maintain, and neither can it be a source of pride to a government that aspires to make this capital beautiful beyond all others.

Harvard Tibble

High Cost

MR. D. G. HAHN (Broadview): Mr. Speaker . . . I do not mind standing before an empty House speaking in private members' hour on Friday afternoon. It is a useful way to get experience in speaking in this chamber, but when we bear in mind the cost of the operation of the House I think this method by which newer members gain experience is a pretty costly one.

Mr. Martin (Timmins): Sit down and vote then.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships, and peeling war..."

By TOM TAYLOR

WHEN I was being driven through the Clyde-side town of Dumbarton last summer we passed the plant of a large whisky distillery.

Since this was scarcely the kind of monument that travel posters display to catch the tourist eye I gave it but passing glance. As it happens the beverage it deals in never fascinates me unduly; and anyway I knew there would be no free samples given out.

I find now I should have been on the lookout, however—for a flock of birds.

If this seems strange let me explain. An item from the U.K. Information Centre in Vancouver tells me of a tip maybe Mr. Hellyer should take, in view of the recent spurge of small arms stealing.

The story concerns the aforesaid distillery, whose managing director had been brooding for long on the best way to guard by night his large and valuable store of Scotch whisky.

And precious it is. No less than 10,000,000 gallons of maturing spirits worth about a billion dollars, duty paid, housed in 30 buildings on 40 acres of land.

A bigger temptation, I suppose, than even cadet school rifles.

It was after much cogitation that the distillery manager suddenly bethought himself of the classical tale of how geese saved the day, or rather the night, for Ancient Rome.

You may remember the story from your school days. How tradition has it that when the Gauls invaded Rome a detachment in single file clambered up the hill of the Capitol so quietly no sentry challenged it. And how as the first man was striding over the rampart some sacred geese, disturbed, began to cackle and awoke the garrison.

And the Gauls were hurled back in confusion. Rome was saved.

Well, why couldn't whisky be safeguarded in like manner?

So the distillery firm acquired one gander and five geese to augment the security guards.

It paid off. There hasn't been a night raid on the whisky since the birds took up sentry duty.

Now the firm has on its staff 75 geese, which bodes ill for any nocturnal visitors to the Dumbarton plant bent on surreptitious removal.

The birds are easy to feed, says this U.K. release, eating the grass around the plant, and their eggs are sold to the girls working in the bottling plant, the proceeds going to a nearby ex-servicemen's hospital. They are in such high regard as "security guards" in fact that when one strayed a reward of $150 was offered—and paid—for its safe recovery.

That's more I dreaay than the value of one of the cadet rifles now being put in safe places.

Incidentally, the geese are housed in barrels bearing the words "Scotch Watch." I suppose "Bird Watch" or "Night Watch" wouldn't be so intriguing. And even if it would be a black night for would-be thieves there already is a "Black Watch" of a different vintage.

As I mentioned I didn't see any geese when I passed the distillery, but that was in the day-time. They'd be asleep, off-duty until the hour came for sentry-go.

I am wondering if I should pass along this tale of the geese to Defence Minister Hellyer, beset with security worries no less than the manager of a whisky firm. But then perhaps he has taken to dipping into Roman history for himself, who knows.

Maybe a few geese enlisted for Cyprus would be worth their rations, however.

Lawyers' Committee Disturbed

By JOYCE EGGINTON from New York

TRUBLED by the way in which the discovery of atomic energy with its related problems burst upon an unsuspecting world, the New York Bar Association formed a special committee on science and law in 1959. This committee of 12 lawyers was concerned not so much with what happened at Hiroshima—that was past—but with subsequent developments.

Today they are disturbed about newer forms of scientific research. They have in mind such "1984" inventions as closed-circuit television surveillance; minute radio transmitters which can be hidden in a packet of cigarettes or disguised to look like a lump of sugar; odorless, tasteless drugs which can be administered without a person's knowledge to break down his defenses; in fact a whole range of devices invented to invade the privacy of the individual.

A picture of how this invasion already affects an average American family is given by social researcher Vance Packard in his new book, The Naked Society. He describes an imaginary Mom trying on a new dress in a department store—watched by a closed circuit TV to make sure she doesn't shoplift. Dad is sitting at an office conference table, next to an undercover agent hired by Dad's boss to keep an eye on the boss' subordinates. Also unknown to Dad, another investigator is checking his bank account on behalf of an insurance company with whom Dad wants to take out a policy.

So John has applied for a job as a sales representative and is undergoing a lie detector test, while another investigator questions John's college professor about the boy's political opinions. Daughter Mary, in high school, is struggling with a 250-item questionnaire which asks about her sexual problems and her parents' behavior—just so that her teachers can understand her better.

Some of the lawyers think Mr. Packard's presentation too dramatic; nevertheless, they agree with its basic truth. In fact they agree so wholeheartedly that they have almost completed the first fully comprehensive study of its kind, based on research into science, history, psychiatry, political science and sociology. The purpose of this study—to be published in book form later this year—is, in the lawyers' language, "to assess the extent to which recent scientific developments threaten the essential balance between the needs of society and government for information, and the competing needs of individuals and institutions for privacy."

The committee's chairman, a New York lawyer named Oscar Reubhausen, says that the study will not form definite conclusions. Instead, he hopes it will anticipate some of the personal problems that science is creating, and point the way to overcoming them.

Many of these problems already exist, and are described by Mr. Packard. The "personality test" with its searching private questions is frequently used by large American corporations, and when the information is processed in vast computers to which goodness-knows-who has access, the hazard to an individual's privacy is even more alarming.

Then there is the case with which telephones can be tapped and board rooms "bugged" to discover a corporation's vital secrets—and in such a manner that detection is almost impossible. On a national scale there was an alarming instance of this when Mr. Henry Cabot Lodge, then U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, displayed at UN headquarters a reproduction of the Great Seal of the United States which had hung in the U.S. ambassador's office in Moscow—wired for sound without the embassy staff knowing it.

Mr. Reubhausen thinks that the most widely abused of these modern inventions is the polygraph, or lie-detector test. The instrument cannot accurately detect lies; it merely records a person's heartbeats, blood pressure, the amount of moisture on his skin and other physical signs related to nervous tension. Although nervous tension can be related to lying, the results are not conclusive but they are frequently treated as such.

Mr. Packard's book—which the New York lawyers feel will help them by drawing attention to the problem—documents a number of instances of invasion into privacy. He tells how a New York night club owner installed a hidden microphone in the ladies' powder room to pick up gossip which he could pass on to columnists—presumably in return for a "mention" of his club.

According to Mr. Packard: "Millions of Americans are living in an atmosphere in which peering electronic eyes, undercover agents, lie detectors, hidden tape recorders, and outrageously intrusive questionnaires are becoming commonplace. Privacy is becoming harder and harder to protect; surveillance is becoming more and more pervasive." This is also true for much of Western Europe, he maintains.

The extent to which the fear of intrusion has already taken root is demonstrated by a story allegedly true, which is currently being told in Manhattan cocktail bars. It concerns a corporation president who spent a large amount of his firm's money having an elaborate men's room installed for himself and his senior executives. Soon after it was put into use, rude words began to appear on the pristine walls. The president lectured his staff who protested innocence, but still the ungentelemanly slogans increased.

He then hit upon the idea of altering the light fixture in the centre of the washroom and keeping a cupboard in his own office permanently locked. Over the lock he put a small printed notice: "Closed-circuit TV—do not touch." He let it be known that there was some connection between the cupboard and the light fixture—and the newly-scrubbed walls of his washroom have remained virginal white ever since.

Nothing like a chummy evening's footer.

It sounds like Cyprus. In point of fact, it was the advance arrangements made for 22 young men from Manchester and Sunderland to have a nice game of football together to see who could score more goals.

The police in Huddersfield held what are described as "eve-of-battle talks."

They studied their plans, examined the territory and made their preparations to deal with mob violence.

Reinforcements were requested from Bradford and mounted units summoned from the West Riding.

The ambulances were alerted.

Barbed-wire barricades were erected.

Ankara's Palas

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN from Ankara

THE hotel is not at first sight prepossessing. It has an inexpensive sort of dome over it and a general air of seediness. It does not look like a hotel. It might be a dance hall. It has a slightly Oriental look. In fact it is the Palas Hotel in Ankara.

It is an unforgettable place. Inside there is an enormous long, high hall, very dark, very empty, from which rise two massive white marble staircases. Beyond it is a lounge big enough to parade a couple of companies of soldiers in. It is dimly lit from stained glass in the roof. There are a few chairs crunched in the corner. There is a suggestion of lace, of heavy tassels, of the allegorical art of the 1920s. It is quite silent.

Here the members would sit drinking coffee in the vast lounge, plotting their stratagems which were, in the face of Ataturk's power, in fact of minor importance. And here the formidable Ataturk himself would sit, savoring the modernity of it all. His picture, faultless in white tie and tails, still glowers, the national symbol, from the walls.

New Aluminum Plant Proposed for B.C.

International aluminum interests are anxious to open negotiations in B.C. for establishment of a smelter on the Lower Mainland, Lands Minister Williston announced yesterday.

He said the company would phase construction of the project to the availability of Peace River power in the Vancouver area, provided satisfactory power rates can be worked out.

UNFAIR TACTICS

First mention of what could become B.C.'s second aluminum manufacturing industry came in the legislature during debate on the minister's salary vote.

He had charged provincial and federal NDP groups with hamstringing the Columbia project with unfair tactics.

CITES DOUGLAS

Typical, he said, was a charge by national NDP leader Tommy Douglas in Ottawa that B.C.'s sale of Columbia downstream benefits left the U.S. could put Alcan's Kitimat operations out of business by making a large quantity of cheap power available to the company's American competitors.

Williston denied this, B.C.'s share of the benefits would merely meet the U.S. Pacific Northwest's normal power load growth over three years.

EYEING B.C.

What was more, U.S. aluminum interests were already eyeing B.C. as a place for expansion.

Outside the House the minister said "international" aluminum interests had approached him 2½ weeks ago to commence power supply negotiations.

He said these interests already operate aluminum plants in the U.S. but not in Canada. He wouldn't name the company.

He had "furthered" the company's desire to start negotiations but couldn't say if talks had begun.

New Commissioner:

Compensation Rules Vital

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice Charles Tynoe said Monday his Royal Commission on the Workmen's Compensation Act must concern itself with changes in British Columbia's economic and social structure.

At the inquiry's first sitting since the death of former commissioner Mr. Justice A. C. Desbriay, he said rules of workmen's compensation are vital to the welfare of the people.

"I know of no subject of greater importance to the citizens of B.C. than that with which we are dealing," he said.

Mr. Justice Tynoe said the commission will continue "an exhaustive enquiry within the terms of reference as my enquiring mind can make it."

Two briefs were submitted Monday, both from widows of men who died while in receipt of compensation pensions for lung conditions.

Mrs. Pearl Murray and Mrs. Ethel Van de Bogart suggested silicosis should be blamed for the death of men who receive a silicosis pension for five years. Such an amendment would enable widows to receive a full pension.

Accounts In Order

The legislature's public accounts committee yesterday wound up business for 1964 amid an atmosphere of goodwill.

Opposition leader Strachan gave full credit for the atmosphere to committee chairman J. Donald Smith (SC, Victoria).

Mr. Smith won the chairmanship over government nominee Donald Brothers (SC, Rossland-Trail) when two Social Crediters bolted ranks at the start of the session to vote with Opposition members.

The committee held only three public meetings and no controversial matters arose.

In recent years the same committee has featured hot debates. Last year it conducted a free-wheeling inquiry into allegations of irregularities in the highways department.

Not Exciting Or Inspiring

WINNIPEG (CP) — Howard Ross of Montreal, president of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants, Monday night said the new federal budget is neither very exciting nor very inspiring.

"It is not a very inspiring or exciting budget, but perhaps pretty much what could have been expected."

Jurors Get Pay Hike As Exemptions Cut

A $2-a-day increase in pay for B.C. jurors was the highlight of a government bill introduced in the legislature yesterday.

The bill would also broaden the field of prospective jurors by increasing the age limit and ending some exemptions.

$10 PER DAY

The bill introduced by Attorney-General Bonner will boost daily jury pay to $10 from $8, increase the age limit of jurors from 65 to 70 and make some occupations previously exempt eligible for jury duty.

The amendments to the Jury Act will become effective July 1.

The new legislation says that only MPs, MLAs, law enforcement officers, coroners and prison wardens will be absolutely exempt from jury duty.

24 GROUPS NOW

The present Act exempts 24 occupation groups from jury duty, including doctors, lawyers, teachers, bankers, newspapermen, clergymen, policemen, members of the armed forces, pilots, seamen, MPs and MLAs.

Persons now exempt who are called for jury duty after July 1 may apply to the sheriff or presiding judge to be excused on grounds of serious inconvenience. The amendments also still allow people to be excused from jury duty on grounds of hardship or illness.

Debts Act Amended

Attorney-General Bonner introduced a bill in the legislature yesterday which will raise the level of wages exempt from garnishee proceedings in B.C.

The bill, given first reading, will raise the exemption for a married man from $120 to $150 and for a single man from $60 to $75. The bill is an amendment to the Small Debts Courts Act which recognizes increases in the cost of living.

... under fire

Skeena Sacred Dudley, Little said the present system of setting stumpage fees for timber in the Terrace area is "ridiculous."

He said the government-set stumpage rates in the Hecate and Kitimat sustained yield units are being based on prices on the Vancouver log market.

Yet while prices at Vancouver were steadily rising the Skeena district price had been unchanged for years.

"Everyone must agree this situation is not only unwarranted but unfair," he said during discussion of lands and forests department spending estimates.

Dr. J. F. McCreary, dean of medicine at the University of B.C., said yesterday he has submitted a report on chronic care facilities to Health Minister Martin.

He said Mr. Martin's statement in the legislature recently that he had not received the report may have been a case of honest misunderstanding.

The minister may have assumed that the report represented the view of a sub-committee, although a covering letter sent with the report said it was approved by the full advisory committee.

B.C. prospectors, at least 67 of them, have signed a petition to the legislature's special committee on access, making a plea for steps to ensure "long-standing rights."

The petition says prospectors in recent years have had difficulty gaining access into privately-owned timbered areas to search for mineral deposits.

The prospectors ask that they be allowed to travel freely in mountainous areas of B.C., to use all access roads with discretion, to camp in forest areas and light camp fires for cooking and warmth.

Health Minister Martin assured the legislature the government has no intention of "dumping mental health services on municipalities."

He said the new Mental Health Act, which was given second reading by the House, allows establishment of community mental health services if the municipalities want them.

Creditate Motion

Deputy Speaker Faces Censure in Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — Gilles Goggin, Creditate House leader, gave notice in the Commons Monday of a motion of censure against Deputy Speaker Lucien Lamoureux.

The motion will come up for debate Wednesday.

Mr. Goggin charged Mr. Lamoureux (L. Stormont) lost the confidence of the Commons by violating the rules during an emergency debate on Cyprus.

It is the first censure motion against the chair since the 1956 pipeline debate, when Tory leader George Drew introduced a similar motion against Speaker Rene Beaudin.

Mr. Goggin said the Friday debate should not have taken place since Creditate leader Real Caouette and two other MPs had declined to give their consent.

Unanimous consent of MPs is required to waive a rule that 48 hours' notice must be given before a resolution can be debated.

The government offered some relief for homeowners caught by soaring values of rezoning.

Premier Bennett introduced a bill to amend the Assessment Equalization Act. Under terms of the bill, persons who lived in a residence for at least five years before last Jan. 1, can apply for their assessments to remain at the normal rate even though the land might have a higher value for other purposes.

Apartment, Station

Esquimalt Rejects Two Applications

Esquimalt council last night turned down two applications, one for the building of an apartment on Dingley Dell and the other for rezoning property for a service station at Esquimalt Road and Head Street.

Council rejected the apartment application because it was beyond council's power to pass it with the proposed building planning to park cars on the road rather than on the water side of the property.

The gas station application was turned down as council felt it would create a traffic hazard. Coun. Arthur Mebs spoke in favor of the application.

Council also:

- Gave tentative approval to the printing of a brochure outlining proposed plans for a municipal swimming pool. A public hearing on the pool will be held sometime in Mid-May.
- Approved an $1,800 grant, Esquimalt's part of the $20,000 requested by the SPCA to help in construction of a new building.
- Approved condemnation proceedings for property at 503 Admirals Road.
- Approved Saanich's request for a second representative on the Greater Victoria water district administration board.

That's how many times we inspect a Volkswagen.

These are some of the ok's our little car has to get in our factory.

(It's easy to tell the ok's from the no's. One no is all you ever see.)

We pay 5,857 men just to look for things to say no to.

And no is no.

A visitor from Brazil once asked us what we were going to do about a roof that came through with a dent in it.

Dents are easy to hammer out.

So what we did shook him a little.

We smashed the body down to a metal lump and threw it out in the scrap pile.

We stop VW's for little things that you may never notice yourself.

The fit of the lining in the roof.

The finish in a doorjamb.

In the final inspection alone, our VW has to get through 342 points without one blackball.

Bach Passion Huge Success

By BERT BINNY

The tremendous musical ability of Victoria Symphony Orchestra director Otto-Werner Mueller has shone forth at every concert he has conducted but never so brilliantly or effectively as during the performance of this weekend of Bach's Passion According to St. Matthew.

There were two choirs, the orchestra, an organ and nine soloists. Yet each part seemed to be Mr. Mueller's special care.

HARD TO STRAY

Whether they were performing alone or in combination, it would be hard for any of them to stray from the correct musical path with so assiduous and understanding a leader.

The performance—on Sunday afternoon, anyway—was an artistic success, which has come to be all that can be expected of it.

cal path with so assiduous and understanding a leader.

The performance—on Sunday afternoon, anyway—was an artistic success, which has come to be all that can be expected of it.

SET OUT TO DO

Bach composed the Passions to expound the gospels just as the mysteries, miracles and moralities set out to do via the drama, of which the best known survivor is the Oberammergau Passion Play.

With 250 years advance in knowledge, the Passion music has been robbed of its educative impact and value and the music has become paramount.

From the status of being merely the means to an end, it has become the end itself. While it has nothing new to say, it says something old in a new way. This is its chief attraction.

VARIOUS ARTISTS

The combination of Bach, Mueller and the various artists of Sunday and Monday at the Royal Theatre proved the lasting power of the St. Matthew Passion. It took all of these to do it but it was a signal accomplishment.

Choir directors were Boyce Gaddes, University Choir, and Richard Proudman, Christ Church Cathedral Boys' Choir.

Robert Peters of Montreal sang the evangelist and Victoria's Derek MacDermot, Jesus. Sopranos were Margaret Abbott, Ruth Champion and Erika Kurth; contraltos June Gruber and Marjorie Sturgeon, tenor Peter Yelland and bass-baritone John Bray.

"Secret" Honeymooners

'Canadians the Best'

TORONTO (CP) — Richard Burton, married quietly to Elizabeth Taylor in Montreal Sunday, described their marriage plans Monday as "the best-kept secret in the world."

Smiling broadly as he and his new wife stepped off a chartered Trans-Canada Air Lines Viscount, the Welsh actor said: "Canadians are the best people in the world. Thirty-five people knew about our plan, but not one of them said a word about it."

EXTREME HONESTY

That, he said, was "an extreme example of fundamental honesty."

The famous couple spoke only a few words to reporters and photographers as they rushed from the plane to a private limousine. There was no press conference.

Miss Taylor only said "thanks" when reporters congratulated her on her fifth marriage.

They arrived here shortly before 4 p.m. and then headed for their suite at the downtown King Edward Sheraton Hotel.

Dance Show-Stopper

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Tucker Smith, 25, a dancer in the show Anyone Can Whistle, usually jumps from the stage to the top of a piano in the orchestra pit during a lively routine. Saturday night he missed the piano and landed on a saxophone, putting the musician in hospital and denting his instrument.

Identified Wrong Girl

Father Wanted To Be Fooled

VANCOUVER (CP)—Stephanie Johansson, who fought death while her parents believed her already dead, is keeping up the fight.

The pert 16-year-old, only survivor of a car crash that killed three persons, improved slightly in hospital Monday but remained in critical condition.

IDENTIFIED

She had been identified after the weekend accident as one of the victims — her friend April Borthwick. Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Borthwick spent 11 hours in a hospital waiting room believing it was their daughter who struggled against her injuries.

Finally Mr. Borthwick realized he had made a mistake when the girl was brought in originally, heavily bandaged.

STATE OF SHOCK

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Johansson, who had approached a state of shock in their grief over word Stephanie had died, took up the hospital vigil.

Gordon Sees Nary a Cloud in the Economic Sky

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP)—Walter Gordon has decided to make financial hay while the economic sun is still shining.

He sees nary a cloud in sight. Without hesitation, he has predicted a fourth year of economic upswing.

It means more people at work—earning more, spending more, saving more, and probably borrowing more.

It also means an added $500,000,000 in federal tax revenues.

And that in turn means Mr. Gordon can move toward his stated goal of a balanced budget, though he still would be $455,000,000 from that objective—last achieved in 1954.

Apparently that was his paramount objective.

He didn't even have to stoke the fire under the economy—at least not with tax measures.

His expected borrowing of $750,000,000 in new money in the coming year will, of course, swell the country's growing supply of cash and credit.

In ordinary circumstances, the time may have been ripe for a cut in personal and corporate income tax rates. Canadians haven't had a major reduction since the peak wartime levels were scaled down in the late 1940s.

But as Mr. Gordon said—and as Louis Rasminsky, governor of the Bank of Canada, pointed out in his report last week—the circumstances are far from ordinary.

Only all-Canada economic indications are masking the regional economic drags—the high unemployment in eastern Quebec and the Maritimes, other slow-growth pockets, certain industries that have been lagging behind the leaders, poorly-trained men in the labor market.

Mr. Gordon now intends to use the breathing space of a supercharged economy to attack some of these problems on an area-by-area, group-by-group basis. He extended some of the business incentives of his last budget. What else will be done, remains to be seen. He has called it a time to "consolidate our gains and plan for steady growth."

Part-Time Students Get Break

OTTAWA (CP)—Family allowances are to be paid at the rate of $10 a month to the mothers of 16 and 17-year-olds as long as they remain in school.

Finance Minister Gordon announced this in his budget speech to the Commons Monday night as another important item in the Liberal government's four-year program. It was promised by Prime Minister Pearson in last year's election campaign.

Mr. Gordon did not announce when the new allowances will start but they are likely to be pegged to the start of the next school year in September.

In another part of his budget, the finance minister announced that part-time students, including those attending night school, will be able to deduct their tuition fees from income for tax purposes if such fees exceed $25 in one year. Only full-time students have been able to deduct such fees in the past.

He also said the government's plan for interest-free loans to university students will be worked out in conjunction with the chartered banks.

Repay the Loan

The government will discuss the loans with the banks and probably agree to pay interest out of the federal treasury for the years the student is at university. After his graduation, the student will repay the loan and pay the interest himself.

Family allowances hitherto have been paid at the rate of $6 a month for children up to their 16th birthday, and then at the rate of $8 a month to the 16th birthday.

To be eligible for the new $10 a month, those who are 16 and 17 must be in full-time attendance at a school, university or technical training course. Applications will have to be made for continuing the pay-

After the Recess

Mr. Gordon said amendments to the Family Allowance Act embodying the new $10 monthly allowances will be introduced in the Commons after the Easter recess.

He estimated that the new allowances and the loss of revenue resulting from the change in allowable tax deductions would cost the treasury about $43,000,000 in a full year. Because of the late start and higher deduction level this year, the cost to the treasury in 1964 will be $27,000,000.

The new incentive for part-time students applies to university courses, studies leading to high school matriculation and technical training.

The fees must be paid to recognized educational institutions giving degrees or university entrance certificates, or paid to a school certified by the labor department.

The new deductibility of tuition fees is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1964.

Under the new budget a taxpayer will also be able to claim as a dependent for income tax purposes a brother or sister who is 21 or over but dependent on the taxpayer for support and in full-time attendance at a school or university.

Many Immediate

Effective Dates For Changes

OTTAWA (CP)—Effective dates of main changes announced in Monday night's budget:

Immediate

Rate at which heavy construction equipment may be written off for tax purposes increased to 80 per cent from 50.

Broad, allowed duty-free entry from most countries, including the United States.

Duty penalty removed from some Scotch whisky imported in bottles.

Duty-free entry of aircraft and parts of a size and type not made in Canada to continue after July 1.

Retroactive to Jan. 1, 1964

Part-time students may deduct tuition fees from taxable income.

Taxpayers may deduct from taxable income costs they incur in fighting income tax assessments.

Taxpayers may claim tax deductibility for brothers and sisters 21 years and over attending school whom they support.

To be enacted

Family allowances of $10 monthly for children aged 16 and 17 in school.

Retroactive to Jan. 1, 1963

Certain expenditures for scientific research conducted outside Canada may be deducted from taxable income.

Extended to April 1, 1967

Three-year tax exemptions for new manufacturing or processing businesses in designated areas.

Writedoffs of new manufacturing equipment acquired by such businesses at accelerated rate of 50 per cent.

These are expected to result in important reductions in the tariffs of our principal trading partners and consequently in the Canadian tariff also.

In these circumstances, it seems advisable to hold for the negotiations a number of useful suggestions for tariff changes which we have received from various sources during the last year.

Budget Will Be Balanced

When Jobs Are Chasing People

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal budget will be balanced "as soon as jobs are chasing men and women all over Canada," Finance Minister Gordon said Monday night.

He made the comment at a press conference after delivering his budget speech in the Commons forecasting a cut in the budgetary deficit to $455,000,000 next fiscal year—down $230,000,000 from the current year ending March 31.

He declined a more precise forecast on when the government's books will be in balance, but said "I'm an optimist" about future economic growth which would fatten tax revenues.

"We've said all along that ideally there should be a balanced budget when the resources of the country are fully employed."

But he added that he wouldn't be "trapped" into saying what full employment is.

Relaxed and smiling after his effort in the Commons, Mr. Gordon had a quick reply when asked why his budget was presented so early in the year.

"Because it was ready," he said. It's the earliest budget speech since 1957.

Tax Taken From Bottles But Stays on Whisky

OTTAWA (CP)—Bread will be allowed into Canada duty-free from most countries including the United States, Finance Minister Gordon said in his budget speech Monday night.

A penalty tax has been removed from some sizes of bottles if they contain Scotch whisky—although the heavy tax on the whisky itself remains unchanged.

Duty-free entry of aircraft and parts from Britain, the United States and other possible suppliers is extended for another year on material of a class or kind not made in this country.

Tariff Board recommendations on oil field equipment have been worked into the customs tariff and there is an upward trend in protection for Canadian producers of machinery and parts.

There were increases and reductions in the broad array of oilfield equipment—ordinary pipe, well-drilling equipment and parts like sucker rods, drilling derricks and screens for shale shakers.

But the general trend was for a higher tariff, so concessions had to be given in the shape of removing the import tariff on bread and on barytes and montan wax.

Barytes are used in paint pigment, glass and as a paper filler. Montan wax is used to harden shoe polish, household and other waxes.

A considerable border trade takes place in bread and "our main interest is in exporting rather than importing," Mr. Gordon said, indicating that he does not regard the tariff reduction as a particular economic threat to Canadian bakers.

When he stopped this time, Defence Minister Hellyer leaned over from the next chair and spun his finger in an obvious gesture for Mr. Gordon to speed his speech. After that the finance minister's words shot out much faster.

"Because of the requirements of budget secrecy . . .," he began one paragraph. And again opposition members pounded their desks delightedly, in an apparent reference to last year's budget when Mr. Gordon got help from three outside consultants.

"You're joking," one Conservative backbencher fired at the finance minister.

At one point Mr. Gordon said: "The next item will be more appealing to members." That dealt with the tariff on Scotch whisky.

As opposition benches joined in the laughter, Mr. Gordon thanked Opposition Leader Diefenbaker for his enthusiasm. He hadn't thought Mr. Diefenbaker a non-drinker—had much interest in Scotch.

SCORED POINT

So far as reaction was concerned, Mr. Gordon scored his biggest point with the announcement that family allowances were to be extended to school-attending dependents up to age 18. Everyone let loose a welcome for this item.

REDUCE STRAIN

Mr. Mitchell said the provisions in the budget regarding the withholding tax increase "should have the effect of reducing some of the strain that has developed between Canada and the United States as regard to American investments in Canada."

He added: "In many ways it now will be a handicap for Canada to have higher taxes on incomes than in the United States."

"We shall be relatively less able to finance job-creating enterprises out of retained Canadian company earnings but perhaps even more serious there could be a greater tendency for some of our young and essential leadership talent in Canada to go south of the line looking for job opportunities with more net income remaining after taxation."

NO STEPS

"Nor does it visualize any adequate steps being taken leading to such relief in the future," Mr. Mitchell said in an interview.

Lack of Tax Relief Hit

Many Will Be Disappointed Says Canadian Chamber Head

VANCOUVER (CP)—Howard Mitchell, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said Monday night lack of tax relief in the new federal budget could be a factor in driving young and talented Canadians to seek career opportunities elsewhere.

He said the budget introduced in Ottawa by Finance Minister Gordon was neither exciting nor inspiring — "It will disappoint many people that it does nothing to relieve the present discouraging over-taxation of personal and corporate income taxes in Canada."

"Nor does it visualize any adequate steps being taken leading to such relief in the future," Mr. Mitchell said in an interview.

He added: "In many ways it now will be a handicap for Canada to have higher taxes on incomes than in the United States."

Outsiders Outside This Year

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon made it clear Monday that no outsiders were consulted.

"Because of the requirements of budget secrecy," he said, "we have not been able to consult professional and business men . . . on these highly technical parts of the law."

A political storm blew up following last year's budget when it was disclosed that three outside consultants had helped prepare it.

Higher Income Tax Deductions

manufacturing process in Canada.

The fact that the 7½-per-cent duty on montan wax from the U.S. is to be removed probably won't result in any great reduction in living costs. Montan wax, it turns out, comes from Montana and is used in other waxes to give it a harder finish.

But there was one part of the budget speech that clearly affects everyone.

"Employment, production and incomes should all be substantially higher than last year for the country as a whole."

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon began his budget speech with a tribute to J. R. Garland, the late revenue minister who, he said, "made a great contribution" to the new budget.

Mr. Garland died early Saturday aboard a train leaving here for his home in North Bay.

"I could not begin this budget presentation without a few words about our loss and sadness in not having Jack with us tonight," Mr. Gordon said.

"I shall always be grateful for his understanding, common sense, judgment, and cheerfulness and support when times were tough."

'Avoid Extremes'

OTTAWA (CP)—Walter Gordon's staff picked out a horoscope item for him Monday as the finance minister prepared to present his budget in the Commons. It read:

"Seek in-between methods; avoid extremes."

Last year, the minister's horoscope read:

"Don't worry about money problems."

Revenue Spending Deficit And Debt

OTTAWA (CP)—Budget estimates for fiscal years ending March 31 (in millions of dollars):

	1964-65	1963-64
Revenue	$6,700	$6,207
Expenditures	7,155	6,892
Deficit	455	685
Net debt	15,391	15,130

How a dollar of tax revenue will be spent under the 1963-64 budget:

National defence, 23 cents
Health and welfare, 22.8
Interest on debt, 15.4
Transport, 4
Payments to provinces, 3.6
Public works, 3.1
Post office, 3.1
Agriculture, 2.1
All other, 22.9

Where the budget dollar comes from:

Personal income tax, 30.2 cents
Corporation income tax, 20
Sales tax, 16.5
Customs duties, 9.3
Alcohol and tobacco, 9.6
Other taxes, 3.8
Non-tax revenue, 10.6

News Is Good If There's a Student in the Home

OTTAWA (CP)—Unless there is a student in his house, the average Canadian taxpayer is unlikely to churn up much excitement over Monday night's budget.

Taxes are not changing, no particular products are being penalized and the cost-of-living probably won't be disrupted.

But for those homes with high school and advanced students, the budget was a delightful document.

Dad gets higher income tax exemptions, mom gets more family allowances and the students get tax deductions for tuition.

The benefits apply when students are 16 or 17 or over 21.

For those 16 or 17 who continue in school, mom will get a $10 family allowance cheque every month. Previously the $8 allowance stopped at age 16.

Dad will still be able to claim a deduction of $470 this year and $300 in a full year for the student receiving the allowance—the same as for children receiving the $6 and $8 allowances.

On top of this, part-time students will be able to deduct tuition fees from their taxable income. Full-time students can do this now.

Another change will allow a taxpayer to claim his brother or sister as a dependent even when he or she is over 21 providing the dependent is in school or university. Under existing regulations such a claim can be made only in cases of physical or mental infirmity.

But it won't be of much interest to the average homeowner to know that a special customs tax comes off Scotch whisky imported in 25-ounce bottles when the grog inside remains subject to the same taxes. Until more is known about United States broad prices and deliveries, it won't excite housewives to know that leaves now can enter Canada from most other countries duty-free. The duty has been set at 7½ per cent.

None of the tariff changes will mean much to the import-conscious homemaker. Machine-made tumblers of glass have been freed from duty, but only when they undergo a further manufacturing process in Canada.

The fact that the 7½-per-cent duty on montan wax from the U.S. is to be removed probably won't result in any great reduction in living costs. Montan wax, it turns out, comes from Montana and is used in other waxes to give it a harder finish.

But there was one part of the budget speech that clearly affects everyone.

"Employment, production and incomes should all be substantially higher than last year for the country as a whole."

PRIME MINISTER PEARSON

FINANCE MINISTER GORDON

Liberals' Second Budget Brought No Surprises

Tory Didn't Like Budget But Presentation Better

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition finance critic George Nowlan said Monday night Finance Minister Gordon's new budget is emaciated and weak, and little more than another chapter in last year's budget.

Mr. Nowlan, who served briefly as finance minister in the Conservative government before its defeat last spring, said he could not congratulate Mr. Gordon on the new budget's contents.

PARTISAN MANNER

But he could congratulate him for not presenting it in the "superior, arrogant, petty and partisan" manner he used last year.

One question that needed to be asked was "why was it brought down so early in the session?"

SO LITTLE

"For so little," added J. Weldon Monteth (PC—Perth), Mr. Nowlan's spokesman and former health minister.

"Possibly—just possibly—the fact it is being brought down now before a meeting between the prime minister and the provincial premiers at the end of the month, when they present their demands he'll be able to say, 'So, sorry,'" Mr. Nowlan said.

A Liberal backbencher shouted that Mr. Nowlan had not presented any budget while he was finance minister.

"I'd rather not have brought down any than bring down one that had to be changed four times," Mr. Nowlan replied.

"This is just a fifth chapter tonight."

ONLY CRITIC

Mr. Nowlan, the only opposition finance critic to speak in the House Monday night, said he couldn't recall a budget ever being brought down more speedily than this one. The Conservatives had hoped this signalled repeal of the sales tax on building materials and production machinery—to go up to eight per cent April 1.

Please Nobody

Most Farcical Says John D

OTTAWA (CP)—"One of the most farcical budgets that I have ever known," commented Opposition Leader Diefenbaker after Finance Minister Gordon presented his second budget Monday night.

Mr. Diefenbaker told reporters outside the Commons that Mr. Gordon's second budget was a retreat from and a re-creation of his first one last June.

The withholding tax criticized last year by the Conservatives as anti-American had been softened, but the sales tax on building materials and production machinery had been retained.

He had hoped that the four-per-cent jump in the sales tax planned for April 1 would be canceled, but there had been no reference to it in the budget.

"It is a budget that will please nobody," Mr. Diefenbaker said. He added that he can't understand why the budget was introduced so early in the parliamentary session "unless the prime minister has some idea of a change in the finance ministry."

A Budget of Omission Says NDP Chieftain

OTTAWA (CP)—New Democratic Party Leader Douglas said in an interview Monday night the new budget makes no serious effort to deal with national economic problems now hidden by lucky grain exports.

"It's a mark-time budget. The government has just decided to trust to the momentum of the fortuitous wheat sales to strengthen the economy. There are no concrete or positive steps to grapple with unemployment and the economy."

Turned Blind Eye

CMA Regrets Lack of Tax Cut

MONTREAL (UPI)—"Mr. Gordon's second time at bat is an improvement on his first, but his failure to make any cuts at all in corporate and personal income taxes is disappointing and regrettable," H. Roy Crabtree, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association said last night.

"By turning a blind eye to the British and U.S. examples in this regard, Mr. Gordon's go-it-alone approach may well result in his being the loser in the long run," Crabtree said. "The finance minister has done well, however, to reverse his original thinking and cancel the additional withholding tax penalty on dividends payable by Canadian subsidiaries of foreign-owned companies."

Better Tax Deal For Widows?

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is thinking about a better deal for widows under the Estate Tax Act, Finance Minister Gordon indicated Monday night.

He said he was impressed by representations from women's organizations that more recognition should be given to the special contribution a wife makes to the accumulation of property by her husband.

Gordon Tells Provinces 'Can't Do It All at Once'

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon has called for financial restraint on both sides of the federal-provincial bargaining table.

"Both sides must recognize that Canadians cannot afford to do everything at once," he said in his budget speech to the Commons Monday night.

PRIORITIES NEEDED

Mr. Gordon said a co-operative effort must be made to work out spending priorities—that is, which federal and provincial programs are to have privileged access to the country's pool of tax revenues.

His statement helped to set the tone for the plenary conference of the country's top politicians, opening in Quebec City Tuesday, March 31.

RESPONSIBILITY

He also reiterated that the federal government is willing to give the provinces—if they so wish—full financial responsibility for some well-established joint programs now partly financed by Ottawa.

In return for the loss of federal money toward such schemes, the federal government is prepared to make "suitable fiscal adjustments." This would include either a larger share of the major tax fields, or changes in equalization payments.

FAIR TO BOTH

Mr. Gordon added: "These financial adjustments must be fair both to the provincial and the federal treasuries. We appreciate the importance and value of joint programs."

Financial Restraint Requested

"We have no desire, however, to go on indefinitely levying taxes simply to pay for programs that are well established and well within provincial jurisdiction."

"It is better that, within the limits of their own fiscal capacities, the provinces should levy the taxes required for such

Strong Pressure Play Resisted by Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon has resisted a strong pressure play to have him remove the sales tax on building materials and production equipment.

By doing so, he will get an estimated $34,000,000 in revenue from the tax in the fiscal year starting April 1, officials estimated Monday night after his budget speech.

programs, assisted where necessary by equalization payments."

He did not say which programs he had in mind.

One—possibly the biggest, in dollar terms—is the field of hospital insurance. Ottawa pays roughly half the costs. Its bill in the fiscal year starting April 1 will be $420,000,000—up $35,000,000 in one year.

DOUBLE STRENGTH

"Canada needs to have both strong provincial governments and a strong federal government. The government of Canada must remain strong and dynamic, both in its effective jurisdiction and in finance."

"This was intended in the constitution. It is even more necessary today."

In his budget last June 13, Mr. Gordon withdrew the long-standing exemption of building materials and production equipment from the 11-per-cent federal sales tax, applied at the manufacturers' level.

He subsequently on July 8 phased out the application of the tax, starting it at four per cent. It rises to eight per cent April 1 and to the full 11 per cent Jan. 1.

Now $2 a Student

No Boost in Varsity Grants Disappointing to Educators

Dr. Malcolm Taylor, new president of the University of Victoria said Monday night in Ottawa he was disappointed the federal budget made no provision for increases in federal university grants.

Grants now are $2 a student, "and I think every university was hoping for an increase." Dr. Taylor said he was disappointed also that the budget proposed no federal assistance for university construction.

He said the national conference of Canadian universities and colleges made strong representations to the federal government on the need for large construction grants, "and almost every university is in bad straits for construction money."

Dr. Taylor welcomed budget proposals designed to keep students in school.

He said the announcement of certain fees of part-time students at institutions of higher learning could be deducted from personal income tax would benefit a large number of part-time and summer students.

Money From Columbia

B.C. to Repay U.S. $50,000,000 Debt

OTTAWA (CP)—The British Columbia government will use $50,000,000 of the money it gets from the United States in payment for Columbia River treaty benefits to repay a U.S. debt.

This became known Monday night after Finance Minister Gordon, in his budget speech, said that in the coming fiscal year the federal government will have to borrow $20,000,000 in Canadian dollars to transfer the American payment—in U.S. dollars—to B.C.

A reliable source said the financing will work this way: As of Oct. 1, the U.S. lump-sum payment for power benefits created by storage dams on the Columbia River in B.C. will be $254,000,000 in U.S. dollars.

That is the equivalent of $274,800,000 in Canadian funds.

The federal government will receive the $254,000,000. It will Premier Bennett said the payment will permit B.C. Hydro to pay off short-term notes which it floated on the New York market.

In effect give $50,000,000 of this money—still in U.S. funds—to the British Columbia government, which will repay a U.S. obligation.

Ottawa will put a portion of those U.S. dollars—officials declined to say how much—into the country's exchange reserves. The rest will be invested in non-marketable U.S. securities at interest rates, with maturities, not yet established.

Then Ottawa will have to borrow $20,000,000 in Canadian funds to pay B.C. The so-called federal subsidy in the arrangement would be the difference between Ottawa's earnings on the U.S. securities—which likely will have a relatively low yield—and the amount it has to pay to raise the money in Canada.

Opposition in Poetic Agreement That Budget Not Worth Much

OTTAWA (UPI)—Opposition parties last night reacted with one of their most poetic outbursts in many months.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker: "Retreat and recantation. He has abandoned Troubled Canada (Gordon's book) and left Canada troubled."

New Democrat leader Douglas: "It reminds me of what the Scottish elder said about the minister's sermon—he read it, he did not read it well, and it was not worth reading."

Social Credit leader Thompson: "It was like a dry bread sandwich with not much meat."

Creditist financial critic Giguere: "Just like clear water—no color, no smell, no taste."

New Democrat financial critic Cameron: "It reminds me of the old saying 'small potatoes and few in a hill.' I used to say that in my youth to denote something of no consequence."

Spur to Research Given by Deduction

OTTAWA (CP)—Another incentive to Canadian industry to expand its research efforts was proposed Monday night by Finance Minister Gordon.

He told the Commons in his budget speech that, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1962, expenditures for scientific research conducted outside Canada may be deducted from taxable income. The research must be directly related to a company's business operation in Canada.

Finance department officials said the move will correct an unfair situation which has existed since 1962, when Parliament approved a move to encourage Canadian industry to conduct more research in Canada.

Incentive To Industry

Under this step, a company is able to deduct from taxable income 150 per cent of expenditures on new research facilities. A company spending $10,000 on research equipment may deduct $15,000 from taxable income.

Officials said the government feels that a similar situation should exist for Canadian companies which are affiliates of parent companies in other countries. These companies benefit from research conducted by parent companies and are charged for it.

Industry Tax Holiday Extended

OTTAWA (CP)—Incentives for new industry in slow-growth areas are extended both in time and in qualifying details by Finance Minister Gordon's new budget.

He said the three-year tax holiday for new manufacturing or processing business in designated areas, announced last year, has been well received and needs further encouragement.

The three-year tax holiday which originally was to be given to new businesses that start commercial operations before Dec. 5, 1965, is being extended to any new business that starts commercial operations before April 1, 1967.

The same time extension will apply to the privilege of writing off the cost of new manufacturing equipment, for use by a new manufacturing or processing business in a designated area, at the accelerated rate of 50 per cent a year. The accelerated rate of writing off new buildings—20 per cent a year—is also being extended to April 1, 1967.

Equipment Write-Off Higher

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's heavy construction industry has convinced the government that the equipment it uses should be singled out for special tax advantages.

Finance Minister Gordon announced in his Monday night budget that the rate at which heavy construction equipment may be written off for tax purposes will be increased to 50 per cent a year from 30 under an amendment to the income tax regulations.

The new rate will apply to all new heavy mobile machinery acquired by the industry effective today.

"After study of representations made by the industry it has been decided that the rapid rate of wear and tear for certain heavy mobile machinery used by the construction industry for excavating and moving earth and rock and compacting road building materials justifies a faster rate of write-off," Mr. Gordon said.

U.S. Cuts Taxes! Why Not Canada?

OTTAWA (CP)—Why didn't Canadians get big tax cuts this year—as the Americans did?

There are five reasons for not following the U.S. example, Finance Minister Gordon said in his budget speech to the Commons Monday night. He listed them in this order:

1. A general tax cut in Canada would not "effectively" meet present economic problems, such as high unemployment in eastern Quebec and the Atlantic provinces. More selective, long-term measures were needed.

2. In proportion to size, Canada has been having considerably larger budget deficits—both provincial and federal—than the U.S.

3. Even after the U.S. tax cuts, personal income taxes there are still higher than in Canada for most taxpayers.

4. In Canada, corporation income—both in the hands of the company and the shareholder—was in nearly all cases less heavily taxed than in the U.S.

5. The Canadian government had decided against major tax changes until the royal commission on taxation reports, probably at the end of this year.

Tariff Powder To Be Kept Dry

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is keeping its tariff powder dry, for use in Geneva.

Finance Minister Gordon said in his budget speech Monday night many "useful suggestions" for tariff changes are being put into Canada's negotiating arsenal for the Kennedy Round of negotiations under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

GUIDELINES SET

Mr. Gordon laid down these guidelines for the Canadian negotiating team:

The first principle was reciprocity. There had to be a "reasonable balance" between concessions gained and granted.

"Moreover, account must be taken to the degree of adjustment and time required to adapt to tariff reductions in terms of shifts in resources and employment."

AID GROWTH

Secondly, the outcome of the negotiations should aid balanced economic growth in Canada.

"A third important consideration is that there must be a reasonable balance between concessions given and concessions gained for the various sectors and regions of the Canadian economy."

Mr. Gordon said he expects the revision of the law to increase the proportion and range of assets that can be held in the form of equities. The rules on valuation also would be changed to "make this type of investment more attractive to these companies."

Insurance Companies To Get Jog

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian life insurance companies soon will be jogged into buying more Canadian stocks.

Finance Minister Gordon served notice in his budget speech Monday night that legislation along this line will be introduced "later this year."

VIEW HELD

"The government holds the view that Canadian life insurance companies should be encouraged to buy more equities in Canadian business," he said.

Mr. Gordon said he expects the revision of the law to increase the proportion and range of assets that can be held in the form of equities. The rules on valuation also would be changed to "make this type of investment more attractive to these companies."

Ask Them Why They're So Slow Trustee Urges

Architects and contractors get "a lot of good dollars out of the school board" and they should be prepared to work faster than they do, a District trustee said last night.

In a discussion on the delay in presenting plans for the four-room addition to Willows School, plus enlarging of the activity room, trustee Edward Wood said he saw no reason why the school board shouldn't ask the architects the reason for the delay.

ONLY NOW
Peter Bunn fired the first shot when he asked why was it when the sketches were asked for in September, that only now are the plans ready and tenders ready to be called.

"This is not good enough," said Mr. Bunn and superintendent John Gough said he doubted if the building would be ready in time.

School Rolls Will Go Up

VANCOUVER (CP) — Chancellor Gordon Shrum of Simon Fraser University said Monday night incentives in the federal budget to keep young people in school longer will result in a larger university population.

Dr. Shrum said he was pleased with the incentives but he would also like to see more federal funds for expansion of Canada's universities.

The universities would have to expand in order to handle the larger number of young people continuing their education as a result of the federal incentives and to keep pace with the normal population growth, he added.

Mr. Husband is president of the Victoria Machinery Depot Co., Vancouver Island Transportation Co., Vancouver Island Coach Lines and Victoria Gray Line Co.

Jews Reopen Bakery In Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Moscow Jewish community's Matzoh Bakery, closed by authorities as a fire hazard, was reopened Monday after repairs were made to comply with safety requirements, authoritative Soviet sources reported.

The community had rented the private bakery to provide matzohs for the Passover holidays since state stores stopped supplying the unleavened bread and Russian Orthodox Easter cakes three years ago as part of an intensive campaign to wipe out religious practices in the Soviet Union.

Decision to Kill Boost in Tax Praised by U.S.

WASHINGTON (CP)—The U.S. treasury department welcomed Monday night Canada's decision to withdraw plans for a higher withholding tax on repatriated dividends and said this step will eliminate the necessity of the U.S. boosting its withholding tax to double the present rate.

The step taken by Finance Minister Walter Gordon is very constructive and will help strengthen Canada-U.S. relations in this field," a spokesman said in commenting on the Canadian budget announcement.

The spokesman added the U.S. still intends to negotiate certain changes in the Canada-U.S. tax treaty, particularly in relation to Canadian taxes on U.S. branch plants in Canada.

"But there is no urgency about this," he said. "The pressure is off."

BOOST PLANNED

Originally, the Canadian government planned to boost the present withholding rate to 20 per cent. from 15 next year. The higher rate would apply on those U.S.-controlled companies which do not offer at least 25 per cent of their stock to Canadian purchasers.

New B.C. Power Bills Affect Peace, Hydro

New power legislation was introduced by the government in the legislature last night.

Attorney-General Bonner brought in two bills which will allow the Peace River Power Development Co. to appeal in the courts the amount it was paid in a 1961 takeover and which will legalize all business done by B.C. Hydro since Aug. 1, 1961.

COST MORE?

Opposition Leader Strachan said outside the House one of the bills means Peace River power will cost more money.

The other, he said, is a bill which legalizes the illegal, that is, authorizes payment of the out-of-court settlement of the B.C. Electric takeover.

Bill 87 — An Act Respecting

Power Development, and Bill 89 — An Act Respecting the Peace River Power Development Co. Ltd., were given first reading.

ALL OTHERS

Bill 87 says the settlement has full, lawful authority, along with all other actions of the B.C. Hydro since the BCE takeover and the subsequent merger with the B.C. Power Commission.

Bill 89 allows the Peace River Power Development Co. Ltd. to appeal the $8,020,328 which it was paid for its surveys and planning prior to its takeover.

The company now is trying to have the takeover legislation reversed. Original legislation denied an appeal to the courts, and the new bill is expected to speed up settlement of the dispute.

Long Chain of Events Finally Fells Pole

STOKE, England (UPI)—Frank Kidd was mystified when he found a lamppost had uprooted itself and toppled in front of his car.

Electricians discovered the supply cable insulation had failed, which caused a short circuit, which melted the bitumen around the post, which gave off a gas, which was ignited by the short circuit, which caused an explosion which blew up the post.

Little League pledge is given by Chris Hall, 1810 Chandler, to open dinner held at Empress Hotel last night by Vancouver Island Little League Association to celebrate 25th anniversary of Little League. (See It Beats Me, below.)

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Little League Baseball Incorporated is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year, and the occasion is being marked wherever Little League baseball is played.

Last night at the Empress Hotel more than 200 people, all but a handful directly connected with Vancouver Island Little League activity, attended a reception and dinner featured by the presence of A. E. "Al" Houghton, secretary, tournament director and Western Regional director of LLBI.

"This," Mr. Houghton told his listeners, "is a somewhat formal occasion and as such it requires a formal address. There must be a strong, magnetic core within a movement which has held together for 25 years. There are things about this particular program in which you have so great an interest that might bear a brief spotlight and perspective. This is what I'll attempt to do in the next few minutes."

This is exactly what he did, and he managed as well to signify success in what he said Sunday was the prime purpose of the Silver Anniversary celebrations.

"We are," he said then, "trying to give a better public image of Little League baseball."

In this frank admission of intent, Houghton acknowledged that Little League Baseball Incorporated is fully aware of the many criticisms levelled at its program and its operation of the program.

Psychologists have charged that it imposes too many mental stresses on youngsters not yet in their teens, medical men have contended that there is too much physical strain and others have taken umbrage because many people connected with the program have too often sounded as if they were on an almost holy crusade. It has also been charged that Little League has drawn a color line where it was demanded and that they have arbitrarily imposed regulations which forced all Little Leagues to purchase equipment and get insurance from designated firms.

Houghton, whose lengthy baseball background includes a lengthy hitch as president of the professional class "C" American-Canadian League and more than a decade with LLBI, had the answers for them all.

"I can't help but wonder where those rumors got their start," he said as he talked about the reports of a color bar and the forced preference for any certain line of equipment.

"We encourage integration," he said. "As a matter of fact we prefer not to see either all-colored or all-white clubs but these are often necessary because of residential patterns."

He denied that Little League had knuckled under in any way when leagues in some parts of the U.S. south refused to play against colored or integrated teams and refused to integrate their own teams.

"We now have only two leagues in South Carolina and we lost leagues in Florida, Alabama and Louisiana. They formed a Little Boys' League in South Carolina, modelled exactly after ours except for the rule which limited participation only to white youngsters. We forced them to change their name to the Dixie League but now integration is becoming more and more accepted we are starting to get some leagues back in these areas."

Houghton produced a lengthy list of manufacturers whose equipment is acceptable to Little Leagues.

"All we do as regards equipment is to give our approval on what passes our specifications. Leagues are free to purchase any approved equipment, all we control are the shoulder patches and decals with the Little League insignia."

There was no denial, rather a quiet pride, on the question of the insurance.

"We were confronted with a steep rise in premium costs because claims were so high and our board of directors decided to call for tenders. We approached 18 insurance firms asking for their lowest premium for the highest benefits. All agreed that premiums could be kept down if all 6,000 leagues purchased their insurance from one firm."

"Fifteen companies put in a tender, we accepted the lowest. We feel that we have effected a saving of 20 per cent in premiums and have also managed superior benefits."

He ardently denied that the controversial Little League "world series" had done any lasting harm to any youngster.

"We have kept a close check on this from the start and our evidence, as provided by medical and professional men of repute, is that there have been no ill effects in any way. It was the world series which sold our program, and we think our program has been a beneficial one."

"It is true that criticisms of Little League have been, in some cases, justifiable. It would be unreasonable to assume that any activity which mushroomed so fast as did ours would not make a reasonable number of mistakes. We have earned both plus and minus and if the indications we see are to be trusted, there are far more pluses than minuses."

"We believe the program has proved itself. For at least the last 20 years, Little League has maintained itself independently, and it continues to grow, and survive. This could not do without public acceptance and approval."

"Little League was designed originally with the thought that it could afford service to youth. This we believe it has done. The hardest part of our program is to educate the parents to do nothing that would defeat the purpose of the program. Baseball is just the medium, or vehicle, for the boy to use to grow up to be a good citizen and was not intended by Little League to be for the edification of the adult."

Asen to that, Mr. Houghton. When you have beaten the hardest part of your program you'll probably never be forced on the defensive again.

Canadian Rink Passes Tough Test From U.S.

CALGARY (CP)—Favored Canada was pushed sternly by the United States before 4,271 fans Monday night but emerged with a 10-7 victory in the first round of the 1964 international curling championships.

Canada, skipped by Lyall Dagg of Vancouver, jumped into a 4-0 lead in the first two ends but led only 5-4 after six. Third Leo Hebert made outstanding shots on the seventh and eighth ends to boost Canada's lead again.

EASY VICTORIES

Scotland and Sweden posted easy victories to the Canada for first place. The Scots, led by Alex S. Torrance of Perth, rapped Norway 17-4 and Sweden, skipped by Kurt Johanson, battered Switzerland 16-4.

Norway meets Canada in the second draw of the six-team round-robin today. In other games, Sweden plays the United States and Scotland faces Switzerland.

ROUGH STARTS

The debuts were rough for both Norway and Switzerland, playing in their first international competitions. Norway skip Per Holaker of Oppal trailed Scotland 8-0 after four ends before counting and Swiss skip Gerold Keller surrendered.

seven in the first four ends before hitting back with two.

After the United States rink from Duluth, Minn., skipped by Bob Magie Jr., scored one in the third end, Dagg came out wide with his last rock against two U.S. counters. His weight was good to leave the Americans only one.

Dagg made a cold draw for one in the fifth but Magie rebounded with a pair on the sixth. The American skip had a chance for three and made his shot almost perfectly. But he drove one of his own rocks onto a Canadian stone at the back of the house to settle for a pair.

EARLY MISSES

Three early misses put United States under the gun in the seventh end and Dagg had a simple time picking up a pair. In the eighth, Hebert made his second—and best—of two outstanding shots. He chipped out a Magie counter to wipe out the threat of a large U.S. end.

The Americans settled for one and Canada rebounded with two in the ninth and one in the 10th to settle the issue before giving up a pair of meaningless singles in the final ends.

TOP SURVIVE

Dagg's rink, with Hebert at third, Fred Britton at second and Barry Naimark at lead, won the Canadian title this month at Charlottetown. Top 17.

four survivors of the preliminary round which ends Wednesday night will meet Thursday afternoon in playoffs for the right to enter the final Thursday night.

PAUL HORNUNG

ALEX KARRAS
... 'real tiger'

Betting Raps Lifted

Hornung, Karras Return to Teams

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Hornung and Alex Karras, two top pro football stars whose suspension last year for betting on games shook the National Football League were reinstated Monday after sitting out one season.

Hornung, Green Bay Packers' halfback who led the NFL in scoring three years, and Karras, Detroit Lions' tough defensive tackle, were suspended indefinitely last April 17.

Both had admitted betting on their own teams to win games and on games in which they were not involved.

NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle announced their reinstatement, effective immediately, in a prepared statement which emphasized that neither had been charged with betting against his own team or with giving less than his best effort in any game.

Hornung, vacationing in Miami Beach, Fla., said he would report to the Packers early in May for a special training program to regain his playing form.

Karras was jubilant when he got the news in Detroit. "I'll be a real tiger out there on the field this fall," he said.

Karras, who was bitter at the time of his suspension, added: "I feel now that he (Rozelle) did what he had to do. It really hurt me and my family and I lost a year of football, but I respect the commissioner and maybe I would have done the same thing in his place. I don't feel like I used to feel about it."

FIVE OTHERS FINED

When the two players were suspended, five other Detroit players were fined $2,000 each for betting on one game and the Detroit club was fined a total of $4,000. The club was fined for failure to give the commissioner reports on the associates of some Detroit players and for giving sideline passes to unauthorized persons.

The five players fined were Joe Schmidt, Wayne Walker, John Gordy, Gary Lowe and Sam Williams.

BEEN WARNED

Rozelle indicated that the severity of the penalties was based on the fact that NFL player contracts specifically prohibit betting and that players repeatedly have been warned against betting.

"Personal discussions with Hornung and Karras have established to the satisfaction of the commissioner that each now has a clear understanding of the seriousness of the offenses and the circumstances that brought them about," Rozelle's statement said.

"Therefore, taking into prime consideration the extent of their violations and also their conduct during the period of suspension, it is felt the interests of the league will be best served by the termination of the suspensions."

Even Refs Are Human

LONDON (UPI)—A London judge ruled Monday that "even referees are God's creatures."

Judge Frank Milton fined Roland Edwards, 37, $14 for running onto the field during a soccer game and grabbing the referee by the shoulder.

"I got a bit carried away," Edwards said.

Vito Dunford Wins Butterfly

Victoria swimmers were in the top three in five events in the annual telegraphic swimming meet held in pools across Canada Saturday.

Results of races in 32 categories involving 1,962 swimmers were wired to Montreal and tabulated by electronic computer.

Vito Dunford of Victoria, competing in the 11-12 age group, was first in the 50-yard butterfly event, second in the 50-yard breaststroke and third in the 50-yard backstroke.

Grant Treloar, in the 13-14 class, was third in the 100-yard backstroke and third in the 100-yard freestyle.

Mystery Money Waits

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—Three cheques of $5,349.50 each—totaling $16,048.50—remained unclaimed at Roosevelt Raceway Monday.

They belonged to the three lucky people, or syndicates, who won the twin-double ticket Saturday night. Why they have not been claimed remained a mystery.

The twin double payoff is the second highest in harness racing records and the seventh highest of any kind of track.

The winning horses were Memory Boy, $6.10; Victory Holmes, $26.70; Dukegan, $44, and Flora's Boy, $6.80. The 440-yard relay Sunday in the Olympic Games trial meet ... 5-1.

Four Big NHL Problems To Be Settled This Week

There are only eight games left in the National Hockey League, but everything rests on their outcome—first place, playoff positions, scoring championship and the Vezina Trophy.

Montreal Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks, both beaten Sunday, are still tied.

Western Quartets Advance

TORONTO (CP)—Western Canada rinks triumphed in the first round of the round-robin Canadian mixed curling championships here Monday night.

Erenie Boushy's Winnipeg rink trounced St. John's, Nfld., 13-5; the Saskatchewan quartet from Weyburn, skipped by Dean Miller, walloped Cliff Macdonald's Charlottetown crew 11-5; Alberta's Glen Gray rink from Edmonton edged the Moncton, N.B., rink skipped by Irving Milton, 9-7; and Gil Lemoe's Trail, B.C., quartet downed the Kingston, N.S., quartet skipped by Karl Stronach, 14-6.

CLOSE WIN

Wilf Biron's Sudbury rink representing Northern Ontario took a 9-8 squeaker over Ontario's Malcolm White rink in the only other match of the first round.

The Quebec entry skipped by W. R. (Bill) Tracy of Baguville had the bye in the first round.

White narrowly missed tying the game against Northern Ontario with the last stone of the game which was about three inches short on an attempted draw to the button.

Manitoba led 8-0 after five ends, then scored three more in the seventh and two in the ninth to beat the hapless Newfoundland crew.

FINISHED STRONG

The Lemoe rink got off to a shaky start, losing the first three ends by one stone each, but fought back with two in the fourth and a five in both the fifth and seventh ends.

New Brunswick, despite winning the last three ends, could not overcome the nine-point lead built up by the Alberta crew.

The Gray-rinked skipper surged ahead with three rocks in the third end, added two in the fifth and singles in the sixth and seventh ends.

Saints Capture Basket Opener

VANCOUVER (CP)—CYO Saints of Vancouver defeated Winnipeg IPAC Junior Buffalos, 69-60, Monday night in the opening game of the best-of-five Western Canada junior men's basketball championship series. Second game is tonight.

Trading the lead in the first half of play, CYO entered the second half with a 37-36 edge but was unable to move into a decisive lead until the dying minutes of the game.

Coch Martin Terry sent his Buffalos on the floor using an open centre and weaving guards.

The move confused the taller Saints through the first three quarters of play, until CYO coach Leo Mulhene called three time-outs to change Vancouver strategy and force Winnipeg to play under the baskets.

Bob Brickley, who topped IPAC scoring with 13 points on corner and outside jump shots, was fouled with 13 minutes left in the game. Brickley sank the single-point shot to bring IPAC to within three points of CYO.

At the 12-minute mark, CYO forward Neil Willcock netted a foul shot and reserve forward Paul Hipwell scored on two left-hand hook shots to increase the Saints' lead to 55-50.

Willcock, who topped CYO scoring with 32 points, continued the rally, netting two fade-away jump shots and two close-in layups to give Saints a decisive 69-58 advantage.

'Best in World'

Another Cassius?

LONDON (UPI)—A European version of Cassius Clay has emerged in the shape of Rafiu King of Nigeria, the world's number three featherweight who will oppose Howard Winstone, rated number two, in a world championship elimination bout.

The fight is scheduled at the Empire Pool, Wembley, March 24.

"I am the best featherweight in the world and I am on the way to another world title fight with Sugar Ramos. Money is my fiancée, and I am chasing her all over the world."

The talkative Nigerian added: "I visited a witch doctor who told me that I would win all my fights this year in four rounds. My last two fights I won in four and Winstone, too, I will beat in four."

FAN FARE

Mrs. Martin Again

COURTENAY—Flora Martin didn't win the Vancouver Island zone championship this curling season but that's just about all she has missed up until now.

Continuing her domination of Island bonspiels, Mrs. Martin made it four victories in a row here on Sunday by defeating Evelyn Stitzler of Port Alberni to win the top event in the annual ladies' bonspiel at the Comox Valley Curling Club.

Visiting rinks made it a sweep with Myrna Perriman of Campbell River taking the second event and F. McConnell and Flora Giglioretti of Vancouver winning the third and fourth events, respectively.

Shutout Record For WHL Rookie

Blades, 3-0. Then he held Vancouver Canucks scoreless for more than 11 minutes in a 4-1 win Sunday.

That gave Kelly a streak of 235 minutes and 12 seconds without yielding a goal and broke the record of 183 minutes and 34 seconds set by Jerry Colnol of Victoria in the 1950-51 season.

Kelly's goaling also clinched a playoff spot for the Buckaroos, the second club to make certain of post-season play. Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle are still arguing about the remaining two playoff spots.

Kelly turned in his third successive shutout Saturday night as Portland shut out Los Angeles.

EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY:

All B-A auto tires feature this No Limit Road Hazard Guarantee

NO TIME LIMIT

No matter when you bought them, your B-A Sentinel Tire Guarantee can't run out during the lifetime of the original tread. Your tire investment is protected against all normal road hazards, such as snags, cuts, fabric breaks and un-repairable punctures, as well as against defects in materials and workmanship.

NO MILEAGE LIMIT

No matter how many miles you've put on your tires, you can't outdistance your B-A Sentinel Tire Guarantee! It remains in effect regardless of mileage, speed, or road conditions. Adjustments are based entirely on the degree of original tread used, and current B-A suggested list prices.

HONOURED EVERYWHERE

No matter where you bought them, your B-A Sentinel Tire Guarantee is as good as gold, and will be honoured at any of the more than 6,000 B-A stations in Canada! No proof of purchase, or guarantee certificate is ever required.

U.K. Assists Games Team

LONDON (AP)—The British government has announced a grant of $56,000 as a subsidy for the British team at the Olympic Games in Tokyo next October.

It is the first time Britain's Olympic team ever has received government aid. The team plans to send 300 competitors and team officials to Tokyo.

Moore Hurt

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Archie Moore, former world light-heavyweight boxing champion, and a friend were injured Saturday in a two-car collision. The car Moore was driving plunged down a 10-foot bank off the highway.

Moore and Charles Payne, 34, of Toledo, Ohio, were reported in good condition in hospital with back and leg injuries.

Woods Firms Ask Changes

VANCOUVER (CP)—Representatives of 119 coastal timber companies Monday proposed 16 contract changes as negotiations opened with the IWA.

If the employers had any wage proposals to put before the union, representing about 26,000 coastal woodworkers, they were not announced.

The IWA is demanding an hourly wage increase of 40 cents plus an additional 30 cents for tradesmen and improvers in a one-year agreement. Base rate is $2.00 an hour.

Forest Industrial Relations, employer bargaining agent, said the union's demand would cost its member companies $31,000,000.

HIGHER BOARD

One of the employer proposals would increase the daily room and board rate charged the workers in camps to $3.75 from $2.50. John Billings, FIR president, said the room and board now cost the companies $4.75.

Other proposals range from clarification of contract language to new uniform rates for travel time.

Clarification is sought of the employers' option to pay fallers and buckers on a piece-work basis or on a negotiated industry-wide hourly rate.

PIECE-WORK

Mr. Billings said most employers now pay fallers and buckers on a piece-work basis. Most of these workers earn $1 per 1,000 board feet, in addition to a basic pay rate of $9.00, making an average daily wage of $48.

"In some circumstances it is more advantageous to pay fallers on the basis of an hourly rate instead of the piece-work system."

Fourteen Win Mention

Six young actresses and eight actors have received honorable mention for their performances in the schools' drama festival.

Six were in Oak Bay Senior's honor play, The Parents' Proposal: Nancy Watt, Barbara Turner, Margot Adam, Chris Denny, Stephen Bigsby and Geoff Murray. Three more were in Mount View's The Counting of Marie Jenvin: Christina Shore, Pete Yakimovich and Len Benham.

The others were Paula Lovric, St. Margaret's; Margaret Adams, Belmont; Wale Gully, Oak Bay Junior; Thomas Cuff, St. Louis College, and Paul Kjekstad, Glenlyon.

A Canadian, John A. MacAulay, of Winnipeg, serves as chairman of the board of governors of the League of Red Cross Societies.

FRANCES ELFORD ... sparks debate

Oak Bay Council

Bus Service Under Fire

Oak Bay council moved last night to arrange a meeting with B.C. Hydro officials in an attempt to "regularize" transit schedules.

The matter was brought up during a debate on whether a bus lay-over site should be moved from Estevan and Dunlevy back to Willows Park, where it was located until recently.

The motion, offered by Coun. Mrs. Frances Elford, was defeated, but most councillors agreed transit times were erratic in Oak Bay.

Coun. Alex Hendry was named to the intermunicipal committee's family court committee.

Oak Bay policemen, inside and outside workers have signed salary agreements.

A bylaw which limits lots in many large more or less rural areas of Saanich to a minimum 1.6 acres seems likely to be reviewed by Saanich council.

Despite strong opposition from Coun. Leslie Pasmore, who argued that Saanich council is inconsistent "time after time," council voted last night, on the basis that it would be contrary to the spirit of the 1.6-acre bylaw, to allow a man to build a second dwelling on his 1.6-acre lot.

But when Coun. Pasmore brought up the 1.6-acre bylaw later in the meeting, two of those who had opposed the request—Coun. Joseph Casey and Coun. Hugh Curtis—agreed the policy should be changed as a whole. If it is wrong, but not violated in individual cases.

Coun. Curtis said the matter should be reviewed when Saanich's new municipal planner assumes his duties soon.

At last night's meeting Coun. Gregory Cook said some senior agency, likely the federal government, should do continuing research into the best technical methods of handling sewage, drinking water and garbage and should make the results of the research available to municipalities.

Council last night voted to leave a petition calling for water service in the Prospect Lake area in the municipal clerk's office, where affected ratepayers can sign it. It was explained that the petition cannot be secret and any area resident who wants to take a similar petition door-to-door may do so.

If enough affected ratepayers sign the petition the water service will be installed and all affected ratepayers must share with the municipality in paying for the installation.

Council referred to its lands and planning committee a recommendation from assistant planner Miss Betty Fullerton Lake Hill and Royal Oak Women's Institutes, not to resume its piece of privately-owned low-roadside spraying program this lying land southwest of Beaver Lake.

Miss Fullerton's recommendation said the land has recently been put up for sale by its private owner for $22,500 or $900 an acre, but this payment could be spread over many years.

Council voted, in accordance with representations from the Teacher Strike Threat Averted

QUEBEC CITY (UPI)—The threat of another teachers' strike in the Eastern Townships has been averted. Officials said talks were held during the weekend between both sides in the dispute and that both were approaching a mutual agreement.

A CENTENARIAN with young ideas

There is nothing ancient about Canada Trust-Huron & Erie except the date on its Charter and a century-old tradition of integrity and friendly, efficient service.

We do not feel, look or act our age, but we cannot wriggle around the fact Tomorrow will be the 100th Anniversary of the founding of our Company under its original name, The Huron & Erie Savings and Loan Society. That was at London, Canada West, on March 18th, 1864, three years before Confederation.

The business began in a single room over a store, with a fireplace, two bookkeepers' desks, a few stools, and a $200 iron safe. Only the safe survived a fire that wiped out the fixed assets five months later.

From that beginning Canada Trust-Huron & Erie has become a truly national institution with Branch Offices in 28 cities coast-to-coast, a half-million customers, and One Billion Dollars in assets under administration.

The founding fathers never dreamed this would happen, any more than they could foresee an era of space flight, jet aircraft, motor cars and 12-lane highways, radar, radio, television, telephones, nuclear power, air-conditioning, Bikini bathing suits... or even indoor plumbing. They thought they were visionaries when they talked of the possibilities of Confederation, a trans-continental railway, harvesting machines, wood-block sidewalks, and the newest gadget for home entertainment, called a stereoscope, which enabled one to see postcard views of Niagara Falls and Westminster Abbey in three dimensions.

The founders (forgive the cliché) built better than they knew. They gave their new enterprise a sound and enduring ethical base. They set in motion a Company that would keep pace with the development of Canada, gearing its policies, methods and services to constant progress and the ever-changing needs of people.

The process has kept us young... in ideas, in outlook, and in our way of doing business.

Canada Trust-Huron & Erie... A Centenarian With Young Ideas... strides into a bright new century of challenge and opportunity with a happy twinkle in the corporate eye and the spring of youth in its step.

IT'S A CELEBRATION

Canada Trust-Huron & Erie is celebrating its Centennial with a light-hearted touch. There will be very little stroking of the whiskers of venerability or reminiscence about bygone days and past accomplishments.

Prior to their Annual Meeting in London March 18th, Shareholders will lunch on foods prepared and served in the style of 100 years ago, and will see mid-Victorian entertainment and a dramatic re-enactment of First Meeting of Shareholders.

1864-style Dinner Parties will be held for the Company's 1,000 employees across Canada, starting with one in London March 17th.

Many Branch Offices across Canada will have staff members in costumes of the 1860's serving Centennial Cake and other refreshments to visitors.

Each city in which Canada Trust-Huron & Erie has an office will receive a no-strings-attached Gift of 100 or more trees for civic beautification—and in London, where the Company began, Anniversary chiming will begin to sound the hours and play pleasant music three times daily.

For Free Copy of the brochure, "Century of Fulfillment," ask at any Company office, or write Public Relations Dept., Canada Trust-Huron & Erie, London, Ontario.

You're invited to drop in for some mid-Victorian hospitality

Twelve Cars Stranded

No Payload, No Ferry

There weren't enough motorists stranded Sunday night at Tsawwassen when the last ferry left; otherwise an extra sailing might have been scheduled, an employee of the ferry service indicated yesterday.

At least 12 cars were left at the mainland terminal after the 9 p.m. ship was filled to capacity, and despite the urging of several stranded Islanders, ferry officials refused to provide an extra run to the Island.

In the absence of B.C. Ferry Authority manager Monty Aldous and his assistant, a woman in the ferry office said such extra sailings are not undertaken unless there is sufficient traffic to make a paying load.

"They (the 12 drivers) were probably late arrivals, anyway," she said.

Lake Folks Demand End of Dump

The Prospect Lake Community Association has demanded immediate closing down of the Greater Victoria garbage dump at the end of Hartland Road near Killarney Lake.

The association yesterday sent a letter to a number of municipal and provincial government bodies and officials saying the responsible authorities have been "totally negligent in their duties" regarding the dump.

"We demand these authorities take immediate steps to close down this dump and thus remove this reprehensible blot on the beauty of Saanich, and threat to the health of a great many residents."

Members of the association said yesterday that the dump is contaminating both streams flowing into Killarney Lake, which in turn feeds Prospect Lake, and Tod Creek, which drains into Tod Inlet near the Butchart Gardens.

They emphasized that they are demanding closure of the dump and they believe no measures could be taken which would make the dump acceptable at that site.

There is scarcely any earth there, they said, and therefore a sanitary land-fill operation would be impossible, since there is nothing to fill with.

Garbage from Victoria, Saanich, Central Saanich and Sidney is dumped at the site.

Yesterday's letter from the association was addressed to the reeve of Saanich.

Copies have gone to the provincial government ministers of health and welfare, municipal affairs, and recreation and conservation; to the chief B.C. forest ranger, and to Saanich MLA John Tisdalle.

Other copies have gone to Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread of the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health; to the mayor and council of Victoria; to the reeve and council of Central Saanich and to the village chairman and commission of Sidney.

Association members yesterday produced a letter from Dr. R. M. Petrie of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory saying that smoke from the dump has been interfering with the observatory's work.

Dump Mountainous

The association's letter says the dump now is of mountainous proportions.

"Apparently poison has been set to kill rats, which has resulted in hundreds of dead rats, seagulls and wild fowl being scattered throughout the woods and on private property."

"Seepage from the dump is rapidly polluting the entire area. . . . The fire hazard is high in dry weather, live embers actually falling at Prospect Lake. Smoke pollution is a menace in some districts."

"Literally thousands of seagulls flock on Prospect Lake, dropping decaying food, partially empty food tins, bones, etc., in the lake and on the surrounding properties."

Association president G. A. C. Denford said the association has been fighting the dump for some 18 months without success. "It's going to ruin the whole lake district."

And Henry Robinson, who operates a farm near the dump, said what area residents fear is superficial improvements will be made at the dump, removing pressure against it for six months or so. He said this is the last thing area residents want—they want the dump out.

At Goldstream Range

Junior Marksmen Turn Out For Arms Familiarization

Junior marksmen, 44 strong, turned out Sunday at the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association Goldstream range for familiarization instruction in firearms.

The youngsters, aged 13 to 17, were guided by members of the association in use of shotguns of various gauges and .22 rifles.

110 at Rally

Paint-Up Plan Well-Received

The pep rally designed to win support of businessmen for the proposed downtown paint-up scheme yesterday drew 110 to a luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

Ald. A. W. Toone, chairman of city council's beautification committee, said he accepted their presence at the meeting as a clear indication of "your interest in the plan."

"I hope it also means that you will help us carry it through to completion," the chairman said.

PROVEN ELSEWHERE

Ald. Toone said it has been proven elsewhere, both on this continent and in Europe, that implementation of a proper paint-up plan is good for business.

In addition to painting, however, Ald. Toone added: "It is essential that storefronts be improved, especially in the matter of improving untidy or garish signs, using better lettering, and having attractive awnings."

"It is the full composite effect that has the most meaningful impact. This is what really counts," he said.

The chairman said the first working meeting in the program, for those property owners and tenants in the first area to be covered, Government Street's "tourist row" will be held at city hall March 25.

COLOR SCHEMES

At this time details of the plan and color schemes selected for individual buildings will be explained.

"With co-operation," said Ald. Toone, "results in this area should become apparent before summer."

He stressed that any property owners or tenants in the other four designated areas who plan to re-decorate in the near future are welcome to seek free advice from city hall at any time.

Mayor R. B. Wilson talked briefly about the city's stake in downtown paint-up. He said the city centre was at the crossroads.

"If landlords and tenants are unwilling to improve the appearance of their buildings . . . it is most likely that new and more attractive areas will develop and property values in the central core deteriorate."

"There is still time, if we bestir ourselves, to paint-up and pretty-up an area that has tremendous attraction and appeal."

The mayor added: "We believe that it is just good commonsense to take advantage of the program we are promoting at city hall. Through it values can be maintained and improved with comparatively modest outlay."

Bag Hurled After Thief Takes Pills

A doctor's medical bag was thrown from a car at Glenford and McKenzie in Saanich after the thieves removed 15 demerol tablets yesterday.

Dr. J. F. Tynoe who had parked his car in front of the maternity building in Royal Jubilee Hospital was unaware the bag was missing until phoned by police.

He had been in a hurry to get to the building and left his car unlocked.

The bag was spotted by John Gault, 3814 Rowland Avenue,

A plan to integrate community and veterans' hospitals may encounter stiff opposition from the Royal Canadian Legion.

Veterans' Affairs Minister Roger Teillet announced in the Commons yesterday that his department will purchase the services it requires from community level authorities, after negotiating transfer of current veterans' facilities from the DVA to the community level.

Royal Canadian Legion zone commander S. J. Mayzes said yesterday the Legion has been opposed to the plan since it was first suggested last year.

Mr. Mayzes said he believes the government to be acting in good faith in attempting to relieve the current shortage of hospital beds, but Legion members are fearful veterans will not receive the treatment they are now getting.

"There is a shortage of hospital beds in Victoria right now," Mr. Mayzes said, "and anything we could supply would be a drop in the bucket."

"In the meantime, applicants for admission to veterans' units may have to wait until this new arrangement can accommodate them."

Proper Treatment?

"We are not seeking preferential treatment," he said, "but this is a question whether the other hospitals will be able to supply proper treatment."

"We definitely anticipate a curtailment of treatment under this plan."

The veterans' affairs minister, in announcing his plan yesterday, said certain conditions must be met where the transfer of authority takes place.

One condition was that the community hospital must provide immediate accommodation for veterans with service-connected disabilities, and treatment standards must not decrease.

Arrangements must also be made for out-patient care in the patient's own community.

The proposal was first made last year after the Glasco Royal Commission into federal government operation, and was immediately opposed by legionnaires.

Royal Jubilee Hospital administrator George Masters said yesterday he thought the plan was a good one.

He said if Royal Jubilee took over operation of the adjacent Veterans' Hospital in Victoria, expansion of services would assure adequate accommodation for veterans and the general public alike.

Veterans' Hospital administrator Norman Beatty said he had not been officially informed of the plan and could not comment on it, or any possible ramifications.

More Problems Here

Mr. Mayzes said Vancouver Island had a greater veteranization ratio, and because of this there may be added problems in this area.

"We will wait and review the matter," he said, "but there will be opposition to the plan later this week at the zone meeting."

In the Commons Gordon Churchill (P.C.—Winnipeg South Centre), former Progressive Conservative veterans minister, charged the step "is a betrayal of the veterans of this country."

Mr. Churchill said Mr. Teillet's announcement will be received with dismay by the veterans and their families. The change was being made not as the wish of the veterans themselves but as the whim of the Liberal government.

He said that when such a proposal came before the former Conservative government in the report of the Glasco royal commission the previous government took the stand: "Hands off our veterans' hospitals."

He said that before acting with "such haste" the government should empower the Commons veterans affairs committee to make an examination of the circumstances.

Insult to Veterans

"A hasty program like this is an insult to the veterans of Canada," he said.

Mr. Teillet said that after the First World War veterans hospitals progressively deteriorated until just before the Second World War "they had earned a deservedly unenviable reputation."

Mr. Churchill called this statement a "shocking condemnation" of hospitals which had earned a high reputation.

Mr. Teillet said it is becoming "more and more problematical" whether federally operated veterans hospitals can maintain current high standards under a changing patient load.

He said the only way to ensure excellent care "is to make the treatment of veterans an integral part of a larger, more active, more on-going operation."

Record Total

Detention Home Kept Busy

Occupancy of the new Greater Victoria juvenile detention home has remained at a record level during the past two months.

Charles Etchells, superintendent, said in his monthly report for January that all previous records were smashed when 47 juveniles were detained.

NUMBER DROPS

The number dropped slightly in February to a total of 45.

During the busiest month Mrs. Etchells prepared a total of 869 meals. Two relief staff members resigned—one because of ill health, another moved to Eastern Canada—increasing the burden on the permanent staff.

REPLACEMENTS FOUND
Replacements have been obtained for both relief jobs, Mr. Etchells said.

The superintendent reported that the entire staff is working as a team, adding "a friendly relationship exists between staff members and juveniles . . . though firm discipline is maintained at all times."

Dowell In Chair

Ald. Arthur Dowell today takes over as acting mayor for a period of about one month.

Mayor and Mrs. Wilson are flying to Europe to visit their daughter, who is attending university in Florence.

Saanich Shuns Talks About Bus Takeover

Saanich council won't even talk to Premier Bennett about the possibility of municipalities taking over transit buses from B.C. Hydro.

At a meeting of Saanich council last night, council voted not to go along with a Greater Victoria Inter-municipal Committee move to seek a meeting with the premier to discuss the possible handing over of urban bus service to the municipalities involved.

The premier has indicated the government plans to hand the urban bus services in the Victoria and Vancouver areas, operated now by the government-owned B.C. Hydro, over to the municipalities.

Coun. Hugh Curtis said for municipalities to seek such a meeting would be "playing into the government's hands."

Coun. Joseph Casey said when the B.C. Hydro's present franchise to operate buses expires it will be shortly before the next provincial election and he does not think the government will go through with handing over the service.

Campus Rezoning Goes to Hearing

Oak Bay municipal council will hold a public hearing on a proposal to rezone a portion for subdivision use, 35 acres of the University of Victoria Lansdowne Campus.

The plan calls for an $850,000 development of two main parcels of land bisected by Foul Bay Road.

REZONING ASKED

The university has asked Oak Bay to rezone one portion for residential (home) development, and provide roads and other services to the lots to be developed.

The university plans to sell the remaining 27-acre parcel of land to a developer for apartment houses no larger than six storeys.

BYLAW SET

Oak Bay council last night agreed to Reeve Allan Cox's suggestion that a bylaw be prepared for introduction at the regular council meeting in two weeks' time.

The reeve stressed such a bylaw does not imply approval of the plan, but in accordance with the Municipal Act, it is necessary before public hearings can be held.

students, financed by the showing of wildlife films by the club.

One of the films, Roy D. Clarke's The Last Wilderness, will be shown Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in Victoria High School auditorium. It features hunting of Kodiak bears, sheep, deer, bear, moose and caribou as well as fishing scenes in the north.

SAFETY PROGRAMS

The young shooters were some of the 150 boys and girls who have recently completed elementary firearm safety programs sponsored by the club.

Several of the junior shooters signed up for an advanced marksmanship course, to be supervised by the association. They will participate in inter-club postal competitions in May and July as a junior segment of the Victoria group.

Targets used by the young shooters will be mailed to various other Vancouver Island clubs, where other young people will attempt to better the scores.

Funds for the sponsorship of the competitions and safety courses are raised through the showing of wildlife films by the local club.

Oak Bay Coffee Party

Home of Mrs. R. S. Porter on Beach Drive was setting last Saturday morning for a coffee party arranged by Oak Bay members of the Greater Victoria Association of Women Electors.

Guest speaker was Oak Bay councillor Alex Hendry and his subject the proposed recreation centre for the municipality. Mr. Hendry described in detail the planning for this centre, the type of building proposed and the necessary costs.

A lively question period followed. He was introduced by Mrs. C. Y. Brown and thanked by Mrs. H. J. Secata. The meeting passed a resolution approving the recreation plan in principle but also expressing the hope that consideration would be given to accommodation for senior citizens and for a branch library as well.

Members of Victoria Chapter, Order of DeMolay Mothers' Club, will hold a luncheon and display of ceramics in the Douglas March of the Hudson's Bay Company Room 19 from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. There will also be home cooking for sale. Pictured are Mrs. D. G. McGimpsey, convener; Mrs. Ernest Prentiss Jr., president; Mrs. L. C. Arnold, Mrs. Arthur Fyfe and Mrs. J. B. McKinstry, co-conveners.

Mrs. Lowthian Named Regent Of Municipal Chapter IODE

Rev. Dr. D. Kendall offered the prayer of the Order at the 32nd annual meeting of the Municipal Chapter IODE which was held yesterday afternoon and evening at the Art Gallery.

Nominations were posted and ballot boxes were immediately opened. First to be elected were the new regent, Mrs. Elsie Lowthian and the vice-regent, Miss Christine MacNab. Retiring regent is Mrs. Peter Bell.

Outstanding report was given by Mrs. V. H. V. Sheppard, treasurer, who announced total receipts as $12,632 and disbursements as $13,653.

Reports from the 10 primary chapters, she said, showed a total of $12,761 in receipts and $11,699 in disbursements—$2,000 higher in receipts than the previous year. "Of this, $6,231 is shown in these reports as being spent in the branches of the Order's work," she stated.

HIGHLIGHTS

Breaking down some of the highlights in her report, Mrs. Sheppard pointed out that from the 1963 Festival, each chapter received $236 and $401 was given to National meeting fund.

"Operation Jubilee Hospital, was a blitz campaign," she said, "and from this we were able to give $300 for an oxygen tent."

A provincial chapter sustaining project was the adoption of a child in India. Paul Speed in Kalaipong. Nine chapters supported the Mary Croft cot, and eight chapters supported the Peace Garden project along with the Korean projects. Overseas Relief and Commonwealth Relations.

The sum of $900 went into eight bursaries of $100 each. A scholarship of $75 was given to the Victoria University; $100 to Victoria Centennial Scholarship; $160 to Dulcie Fowler Bursary; $120 for upkeep of ex-service personnel graves and $39 to welfare.

National Chapter received $881 and Provincial received $881.

LIVELY REPORT

Mrs. Clarice C. Brown, commonwealth relations secretary, presented a lively report stating that all chapters in the area had contributed to the national fund to the amount of $139 and to the Provincial Child Adoption Fund to the amount of $23,600.

A student of the University of the West Indies has been awarded a post-graduate scholarship.

"Our two medical students in India seem to be doing well in their studies," said Mrs. Brown, "and the student chosen by the board of the University of the Lagos Medical School is a 23-year-old Nigerian man called Maxwell Eleru Odozie. At the annual meeting we decided to offer this scholarship of $700 which includes cost of tuition, living expenses and books."

In her public relations report, Mrs. A. J. T. Laundry pointed out there had been 363 news releases and 49 pictures in the local press.

Mrs. A. B. Carson, Immigration, said people of 18 nationalities had received their citizenship status with Dutch, German, Hungarian, Italian and Danish in the greatest numbers.

Other reports were given by Mrs. D. E. Teng, Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps and Mrs. C. MacNab.

One of the major reports of the evening was given by Mrs. J. A. Dunn, on education. Mrs. Dunn noted that primary chapters had given the sum of $2,568 and municipal the sum of $1,142 for a total of $3,711.

This sum includes many bursaries and adopted schoolwork. Mrs. Dunn's report contained many highlights such as the annual bursary presentation and tea held annually on the Gordon Head Campus of Victoria University. On this occasion $1,600 was presented to Timothy Frank Taylor of the city, along with 10 municipal bursaries and primary bursaries.

Primary chapters are Camosun, Sir James and Lady Douglas, Florence Nightingale, Navy League, Esquimalt, Robert Burns McKicking, Major John Hebdon Gillespie, Royal Bridge, Royal Roads and Alden Hamber.

The 10 chapters awarded $1,475 in scholarships and bursaries. During the sessions greetings from Provincial Chapter were brought by Mrs. R. R.

Shortreed of Vancouver. Mrs. G. C. Baker took the roll call as well as giving the report of the organizing secretary, Mrs. C. Riach reported on Echoes, Mrs. B. T. Shaw on Services at home and abroad and Mrs. H. Mennie as standard bearer.

Reports were also given by secretary Miss M. D. MacNeill and by Miss C. Chow, Mrs. H. Wollison, Mrs. Dodimede and Mrs. N. S. Lockyer. Pianist is Miss H. Rattray, Mrs. A. B. Hall installed new officers.

Consumers Role Important

Consumers can play a constructive role in the health of the Canadian economy, Mrs. P. R. A. Coombs, president of the Victoria Branch of the Consumers' Association, told a meeting of the Home Economics and Dietetics Association at the Arts Centre. By vigilance and discriminating buying practices consumers support the wise manufacturer. They can cast their vote in the market place when they demand the "best buy" and consequently can help to improve the standard of Canadian products.

Laws, which are passed to protect the consumer, are usually made with the best of intentions, but sometimes these laws are not practicable, she states. Thus, it is important that consumers be alert to any shortcomings. The present gas probe where consumers are being given an opportunity to protest against a law that may not be working, she cited as an example.

People with training owe it to their fellow-men, who have in some small measure subsidized their education, to be vigilant and active in protecting consumer rights. In this way, she said, they can influence not only the Canadian economy but also world peace.

They have two sons, Lorne of Victoria and Calvin in Cavendish, Alta. Their daughters are Mrs. John Lloyd and Mrs. T. Heikkinen, Leslieville; Mrs. John Crouch and Mrs. George Scully, Victoria. They also have 11 grandchildren.

Newlyweds Receive Good Luck Horseshoe

Japanese plum blossoms and pussy willows decorated St. John's Anglican Church for wedding of Carole Ann Cookson and Mr. James Allan McLellan.

Rev. Canon George Biddle performed the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Cookson, 2901 Colquitz Avenue, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. McLellan, 2836 Inez Drive.

Miss Susan Basanta sang the Wedding Prayer.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was lovely in an exquisite floor-length gown of white nylon organza over tulle. Applique lace detailing on skirt and bodice enhanced the classic styled gown. Matching jacket fitted above waistline, featured lily point sleeves, high round neckline with applique lace, roses forming scallop in front. Her veil misted to her shoulders from a headpiece of orange blossoms. She wore a Black Alaska pendant and matching earrings and carried red roses and freesia.

Mrs. William Dealey as matron of honor, and Miss Pam Lowres, bridesmaid, were in turquoise, street-length bell-skirted gowns of nylon sheer over silk. Bridesmaids Miss Janet Harris and Miss Donna Weeks wore identically styled gowns in pale pink. They all wore matching net and floral headpieces and carried carnation bouquets en tone.

Two-year-old Susan Carmichael, as flower girl, was in a pink nylon frock and carried a posy of pink carnations centred with a single pink rose. Little four-year-old Stephen Carmichael as pageboy wore a two-tone beige linen suit.

Mr. Oliver McLellan, was his brother's best man. Mr. Ronald Sims, Mr. William Dealey and Mr. Malcolm McIntosh were ushers.

Mr. Gilbert Carmichael proposed the toast to the bride at a reception in Holyrood House. Pink roses and tapers flanked the three-tier wedding cake which was cut by the couple with a dirk.

Goodluck horseshoe was presented to the bride by her niece and nephew, Susan and Stephen Carmichael. Dancing followed the reception and Mr. Alan Dunn was soloist.

For a motor trip to Alberta the new Mrs. McLellan changed to a white wool suit with cranberry accessories. A red rose corsage completed her ensemble.

On their return the couple will make their home at 3071 Albany Street.

The Hercules Look Must for the Men

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (AP) — The 1964 must in style for men: "The Hercules look."

In concept, the idea is simple. Your tailor, if hep, will accent the acromial and thoracic at the expense of the iliac and gluteal.

Tailor and Cutter, a trade magazine sometimes called the bible of Savile Row, explained it all in an article by W. J. Clenshaw, head cutter for a leading west end suitery. The object, he wrote, is to make a man look as much as possible like the classical Greek strong man by exploiting his acromial and thoracic shoulder and chest areas while minimizing his iliac and gluteal waist and sixtupl regions.

Clenshaw acknowledged that in far too many cases this is not going to be a downhill pull. "When a man of comparatively narrow upper proportions and wide lower portions asks for a sartorial reversal," he said, "there are some problems for the cutter to solve."

"If there is too much shoulder width imparted, some of the material will collapse over the shoulder end. Padding the shoulders will only give an artificial appearance to the garment, and in any case it is the style of our house to produce a natural shoulder and sleeve-head."

"So the likelihood of the jacket turning out to be pear-shaped-narrow at the top and wide at the bottom — is very great.

"However, by means of various compromises, coupled with a statement to the customer that the impossible cannot be achieved, I manage to get a garment which at least does not emphasize the width in the seat and hips areas."

In a supporting editorial, Tailor and Cutter said there is no doubt that sex attraction, as in Elizabethan and regency times, is firmly re-established as the main basis of current male fashion.

If you don't fancy calling it the Hercules Look, the editorial suggested, then "virility theme" or the "look at me look" will serve just as well. It concluded: "Protocol, respectability, dress snob, will henceforward give place steadily to the more artistic preferences for improved physique and visual esthetics. There will be, in other words, a

AMY By Mace and Tippit

"Yes, they DO make you look taller."

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: The title of my story could be, "The Romance that Was Killed by a Toothpick."

I was becoming seriously interested in a gentleman whose object was matrimony. I found him attractive, intelligent, considerate and excellent company. We had a great deal in common and I began to look forward to our evenings together.

Last night we were having dinner in a fine restaurant. After the dessert he reached into his vest pocket and pulled out a toothpick. For almost five minutes he sat there cleaning his teeth. I nearly became nauseated. My feelings of affection and admiration for him died then and there.

Am I wrong or is it the height of bad manners to use a toothpick at the table? Shouldn't the gentleman have excused himself?

Please print my letter. It may help others for whom it is not too late.—PAST TENSE

Dear Tense: A romance that could be felled by a toothpick wasn't much to begin with.

Talk about throwing out the baby with the bath water, you're the living end, Petunia.

A man who is "attractive, intelligent, considerate, excellent company and interested in marriage" certainly sounds worth a little patience and tactful instruction. One well-phrased sentence might have salvaged the situation.

Dear Ann Landers: A neighbor who visits me often is crazy about our small child. Whenever I correct the boy the neighbor makes some little remark such as "We'll get even with her for that." Or, "My but mommy gets mean, doesn't she?" Sometimes the neighbor just laughs at me and encourages the child to laugh at me, too.

I am not mean to my son, but I believe in discipline. I'm afraid the neighbor is undermining me in small but important ways. My husband says I must be imagining things but he doesn't see it since he is not at home when she visits and does her dirty work. I am concerned because the boy is disobedient and behaves in an obnoxious and three times. I have not printed it because I believe you want to embarrass your sister. The facts as outlined by you certainly make the poor woman look foolish. I am especially alert to this sort of thing when people write to me about a relative's problem and request that it be published verbatim.

If your sister wants my advice she can send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers in care of this paper. I will be happy to help her if I can.

The myth about drinking wine

How often have you avoided serving wines to your guests because you are not confident of serving the correct wine? How many times have you missed the enjoyment of wine with your meals because of similar uncertainty with regard to buying and using wines?

There is actually no such thing as a "correct" wine. The selection of wine to accompany a food course is a matter of personal choice.

Over the years, many customs have developed about serving various wines with foods, and basically through experimentation and time, a broad pattern has emerged as to wine and food combinations enjoyed by the majority of people.

The idea that such combinations are "social musts", and that they are rules that must be obeyed, is a complete myth, although they are an excellent guide, and are most likely to please most people most of the time.

Matching food and wines is a matter of taste — not of color — and there is only one simple rule to wine drinking... if you like it — drink it!

Part of the fun of serving wines is developing your own list of preferences — experimenting to find which wines you enjoy most with your favorite foods.

And you'll have lots of fun sampling Calona fine wines — there's a full list of various types for your dining and entertaining pleasure.

Pranksters' Sanity Queried

Two youths decided to have fun at the expense of other people Sunday night yesterday they stood shamelessly in court while Magistrate William Ostler speculated on their sanity.

"You aren't mentally deficient, are you?" asked Magistrate Ostler of Johannes Minten, 18, of 1131 Palmerson, and William Warren, 19, of 3973 Summit.

Both youths answered no. "You make it sound as if you are," the magistrate said.

Released Brake

Court was told the two released the handbrake on a car and let it coast down a hill into some bushes in the 4000-block Cedar Hill Sunday night.

Not content with this, the two then went to Greenridge Crescent, where they moved four cement blocks onto the road at the crest of a hill.

Then they moved on to McKenzie and Cedar Hill, where they placed a number of four-inch drainage tiles on the road where there was a bend and poor lighting.

Obstructed Road

A passing motorist moved the obstruction, so the two put them back, but this time added more, including a sign.

Passing motorists again cleared the road, so the youths then pushed a car onto the road as well as returning the other obstructions.

Warren was caught by Saanich police a short time later, and after questioning, told police Minten had been his accomplice. Both were charged with being a common nuisance. They pleaded guilty and were remanded to March 19 for probation report and sentence.

Bound To Be Angry

LONDON (AP) — A crowd gathered outside the real estate office to gaze at the man who was bounding up and down inside. Somebody said, "He's gone mad."

Finally someone called the police.

They found the man was bound and gagged.

"I was trying to attract attention," he gasped when the gag was removed.

Three thieves had trussed him up and made off with office funds worth $1,400.

New Colors For P&O

The 11 ships of the P & O Orient Line passenger fleet are to be painted in new colors but the 42,000-ton Oriana will still be wearing her old color scheme when she picks up the pilot here between 4 and 5 p.m. Wednesday on her way to Vancouver.

First ship to reach B.C. in her new coat, the 45,000-ton Canberra, will arrive in B.C. May 16. Revised colors will be white on the hull; green on boot toppings and names; yellow on funnels, Sampson-posts, masts and derricks.

The Red Cross has been honored with the Nobel Peace Prize on four occasions.

Joseph Neil McKinnon was sentenced in city court to 2½ years in prison when he was found guilty of breaking and entering and theft.

McKinnon was arrested Nov. 9 after about $80 was stolen from a safe and cash drawer at Westcraft Manufacturing Ltd., 2811 Douglas, earlier the same day.

A 55-year-old man was sentenced to two concurrent two-year jail terms when he pleaded guilty in Saanich court to contributing to juvenile delinquency and gross indecency.

"I'd like to co-operate with the authorities to straighten myself out," said John Collins Green, 339 Cook.

Other Terms

He served nine-month terms in 1951 and 1960 for contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Court was told he was arrested Saturday after a nine-year-old boy and a 10-year-old boy were taken by the man to empty houses where he committed indecent acts with them.

A woman was sentenced to 20 days imprisonment and two men were remanded to March 24 for licence report and sentence when they appeared in city court charged with impaired driving. All three pleaded guilty.

Yvette Simeyen, 2835 Rita, pleaded guilty to the charge and admitted it was her second offence since 1962, when she was fined $250 in Colwood.

Court was told she was seen weaving her car along Fisgard Street near the city police station Feb. 1 when she was stopped. A breathalyzer test showed a reading of .27 per cent blood alcohol content.

The two men were Dimas Martins, 1231 Belmont, and Ralph Brown, 645 Dundas.

Three drivers were fined a total of $150 when they pleaded guilty to charges of failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Court was told Raymond Beech, 1716 Fernwood, told police he didn't stop after striking a car on Rose Street because he had no insurance. He was fined $125.

He was questioned by police Feb. 22, about 10 minutes after the accident occurred. He was found stopped in the 1100-block Yates Street.

He also pleaded guilty to careless driving and was fined an additional $40.

Lawrence Chisholm, 984 Brock, pleaded guilty to failing to remain and following too closely. He was fined $125 on the first charge and $30 on the second.

Hit Rear of Car

Court was told he hit the rear of a car at Admirals and Woodway, then left the scene.

Peter Watson, 4078 Cedar Hill, returned to the scene a short time after he struck a car parked near the Esquimalt police station, but that didn't save him from a $100 fine in Esquimalt court.

A whole summer's whittling was wasted when vandals stole George Ransom's gatepost Saturday night.

Mr. Ransom, 4394 Shelbourne, was just leaving for work at B.C. Forest Products Sunday morning when he noticed the eight-foot totem pole gatepost was gone.

"It's not worth much," he told the Colonist last night, "but I'm darned mad it was stolen."

"I spent most of my spare time all summer whittling, cutting and painting, and I think it looked pretty good."

Since it has no Indian significance, Mr. Ransom describes it as "sort of a white man's totem pole" with a kingfisher sitting on a frog's head, and is painted blue, white and green.

"They must have had trouble taking it," he added. "It was firmly packed in a three-foot hole in the ground."

"It was just a gate marker, but it was different."

More trouble with vandals was reported by B.C. Telephone Co.—someone chopped halfway through a telephone pole at Douglas and Elliott.

The company was forced to remove telephone booths from the Malahat last week after several were smashed by vandals.

Coroner

Lawyer Edmond St. Jorre has been appointed Victoria coroner, it was announced yesterday. The deputy coroner succeeds Dr. John Moore, who retires April 16 at 75.

Death Driver Sent to Jail

VANCOUVER (CP)—A young man convicted of criminal negligence in a traffic death Monday was jailed for four years and barred from driving for eight years.

Edward Lawrence Doman, 25, of Chilliwack, B.C., was found guilty last week in assize court after Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan said he did everything wrong that he could have the day 20-year-old John Wilson was killed.

Doman had been drinking, he had been suspended from the road when he took the car, and there was some indication Doman was driving the car without permission. Mr. Justion July 11 were charged with possessing offensive weapons. "The offensive weapon in each case was alleged to be a piece of brick. It is now alleged that the pieces of bricks were planted on these persons arrested at West End central police station and that the charges were substantially substantiated or attempted to be substantiated by perjury and fabricated evidence," Mathew said.

Challenor was alleged to have told another policeman before the demonstrations, "We have got to stop them throwing stones at royalty."

Crown prosecutor John Mathew said eight people arrested by the bobbies during demon-

Local Foundation

Insignia, Grants For Research

The Medical Research Foundation of Victoria has entered its second year of operation with a new insignia and more than $11,000 in grants.

The seal was designed by Mrs. Barbara Rhind, a Swartz Bay woman active in medical illustration work in Edmonton before coming to the Victoria area.

MAPLE LEAF

The seal depicts a microscope, maple leaf and gull, symbolizing a deep look for truth, the nation and Victoria.

One of the three new grants to the organization allows $20,000 for tonography and water drinking tests for glaucoma among hospital patients. Research will be directed by Dr. R. L. Wiggins.

A further $1,700 will be used for research into ear infections in children and will be carried out by doctors at St. Joseph's Hospital.

All money was made available through federal grants.

$225,844 Allocated For Cancer Study

VANCOUVER (CP) — associates at the University of B.C. Cancer Research Centre. They are refining the Jamaican Peewinkle for treatment of some cancers.

Largest individual award, $11,547, goes to Dr. H. K. Fidler of Vancouver, who began a mass screening program to detect cancer of the cervix among B.C. women.

Improper Conduct

Four Ontario Doctors Censured by College

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons has found four Ontario doctors guilty of improper conduct and has imposed disciplinary action ranging from a reprimand to erasure of a doctor's name from the register.

Among the four mentioned in the college's semi-annual report mailed to doctors was Dr. Franz Joseph Woss, whose name was erased from the register when he was found guilty, in absentia, of "infamous and disgraceful conduct in a professional respect."

NOT IDENTIFIED

He and three others—Robert Kingsley Graham, Kenneth Douglas Johnson and John Robert LeCrox—were not identified in the report as to their place of practice.

The charge, the report states, deals with Dr. Woss' "attempting to procure a miscarriage, a criminal act in the practice of his profession."

GIVEN REPRIMAND

Dr. Kingsley Graham was reprimanded, the mildest form of disciplinary action, when he was found guilty of "reckless disregard" for his patient in an operation.

Dr. LeCrox was severely reprimanded after being found guilty of disgraceful conduct.

MISCONDUCT

Dr. Johnson was found guilty of professional misconduct in that his privileges under the Narcotics Control Act were restricted or withdrawn.

LaMarsh Trapped

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Health Minister Judy LaMarsh was trapped in an elevator for about 20 minutes Saturday.

Miss LaMarsh and 19 other people entered the elevator in a hotel. The machine, overloaded, fell 1½ floors before halting. Rescuers broke open the door.

Gas Line Blast Digs Up Road

ONTARIO, Ore. (AP)—An underground gas line blew up here, blasting a hole 30 feet long, 15 feet wide and six to eight feet deep in a street.

No one was hurt and no buildings were damaged by the explosion of unknown origin.

Terrorists in Army?

MONTREAL (UPI) — RCMP Monday denied published reports they are investigating separatist attempts to infiltrate the Canadian army.

An RCMP spokesman said he knew nothing of a terrorist questionnaire asking would-be members of the movement if they would be willing to join the army to help the separatist cause.

A published report yesterday asserted the Mounties had a copy of the form.

WOULDN'T BE SURPRISED

Meanwhile, the head of the Montreal police anti-terrorist squad said he wouldn't be surprised if the terrorist Armée de Libération Québecois (Quebec Liberation Army) had sent out such a questionnaire.

"But I haven't seen one and if you know of anyone who has one, let me know right away," Inspector Russell Senecal said.

NEWSPAPER REPORT

The Montreal Star says the A.L.Q. held responsible for big army raids in Quebec province in the last six weeks, is distributing a three-page questionnaire to known and prospective followers asking if they are willing to enlist in the army "to serve the cause."

The questionnaire also asks for information on the applicant's army service, present occupation, willingness to learn special trades, political sympathies, age, racial origin and marital status.

The story didn't say how the literature was being distributed.

It said a copy of the questionnaire had been acquired by the RCMP.

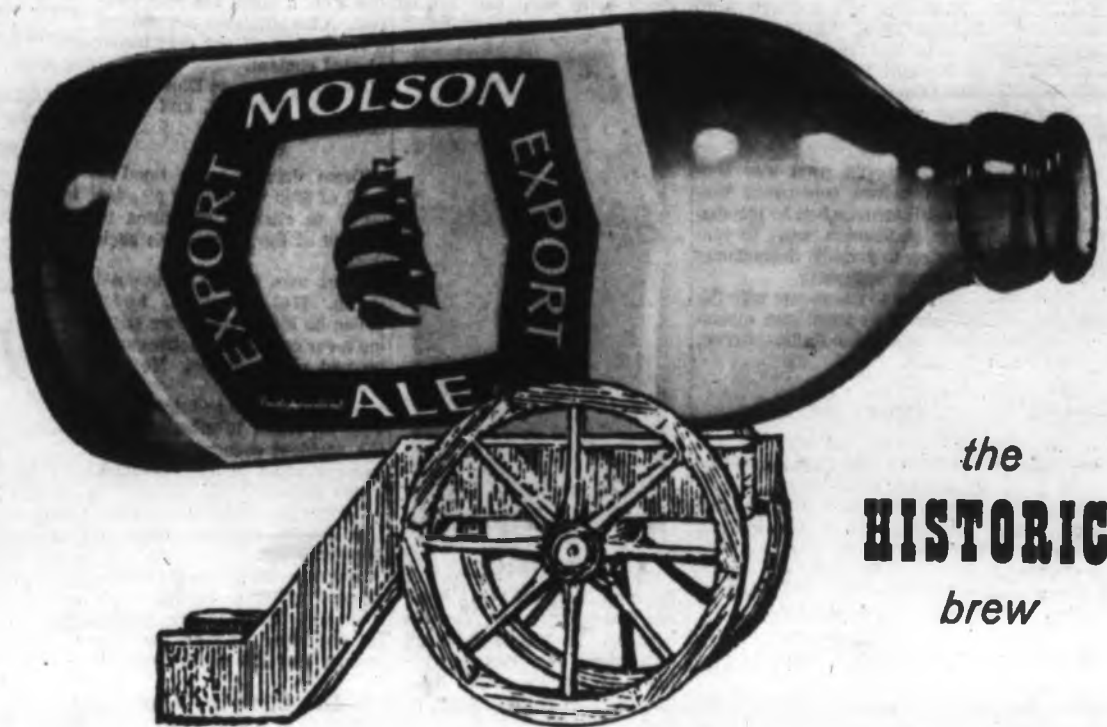

The Star says the questionnaire is "almost word for word" with one used to recruit army.

members for Algeria's revolutionary army. The A.L.Q. came into prominence last January saying reports that several supplies and ammunition were stolen from a Montreal terrorist training camp.

The Star quotes unidentified Canadian army authorities as saying that several supplies and ammunition were stolen from a Montreal terrorist training camp.

Boycott of Schools Lacking in Support

NEW YORK (AP)—The second civil rights boycott of the city public school system failed Monday to draw the deep support Negroes and Puerto Ricans gave its forerunner six weeks ago.

"There seems to be no parental support and no support by the teachers," said a leader of student pickets.

Trapped by Indians

40 May Die 'One by One'

LIMA (Reuters) — A small survey party of 40 persons—holding out since last Wednesday on a tiny hilltop in the eastern Peruvian jungles—against 8,000 hostile Indians—said Monday night they faced being picked off "one by one."

The party of 30 civilians and 10 soldiers sent an urgent radio appeal for someone to "do something please." The radio message said the attacking Indians were "firing every five minutes."

EDGE OF MADNESS

The message, picked up in Iquitos and reported here, said some members of the party were "on the edge of madness" due to heat, rain and "thousands of Indians screaming like animals in the jungle."

The scene of the tense drama was 50 miles from the Brazilian border on a hilltop near the Calvez River. The nearest Peruvian city is Requena, 50 miles away.

A report said the Indians—armed with bows, arrows and rifles—had already killed two in the survey party and wounded four.

Frantic attempts were being made to rescue the isolated men.

Peruvian air force jet fighters strafed the jungle around the hilltop in an effort to drive off the Indians. Indian casualties were officially put at more than 30.

The urgent radio message said the Indians were tightening the circle around the party entrenched on the hill.

TROOPS NOT THERE

Army troops sent out Friday from Requena through the jungle still had not reached the trapped party. A Peruvian naval gunboat tried to reach the scene by river.

Food and medical supplies were airdropped to the desperate men.

Under Shelter

Local Birds Dining Lavishly

By KEN JOHNSON

The birds of Victoria are dining lavishly these days—thanks to the enterprise of former shipyard machinist Gordon Howard.

Due to a brainwave he had while attending a church bazaar more than five years ago, Mr. Howard has built himself a rapidly growing business that is providing wild birds with food and shelter everywhere.

DESIGNED OWN

Mr. Howard, 705 Cook, saw homemade bird shelters at the bazaar, and immediately decided to design his own bird shelter, complete with eating facilities.

His bird-feeders are simple but effective. They consist of drilled logs of alder wood that can be hung in gardens, on porches or anywhere outside a house.

WATER SKIING

From 3 p.m. until 4:15 p.m. members of the Victoria Outboard Club and the Victoria Aqua-Ski Club will demonstrate water skiing and precision outboard motor drill.

The end of the day of marine events will be the Yachtman's Ball in the Empress Hotel, where results of racing events will be announced and prizes and trophies presented.

Arena Busy Around Clock

By TED GASKELL

At 3 a.m., that dead time between the end of the late movie on TV and the start of the alarm clock's jangle, a group of youngsters can sometimes be found preparing to take Memorial Arena ice for a hockey session.

That's what was happening at 3 a.m. Saturday as minor hockey started its four-hour session.

That was just the beginning of a busy weekend for arena personnel.

After hockey ended at 7 a.m., it was time to cover the ice, set out seats and build the frame for the 8-foot-by-12-foot screen for the Beatles closed circuit TV show at 11:30 a.m. Doors opened an hour before.

After the second Beatles show, crews again got to work at 3:55 p.m., tearing out the screen and frame to prepare the arena for more hockey at 5:15.

Hockey ended at 7:30 p.m. and the floor was covered, seats set up and a ring and lighting prepared for the 8:15 wrestling card which lasted until 10:15 p.m.

At 3:30 a.m. Sunday, recreational hockey started again and that, plus skating and figure skating, kept the ice in use until 12:30 a.m. Monday.

Nearly two full days of continuous use.

That's not a unique situation, says arena manager Jack Morgan.

There have been four weekends on which the arena has been occupied almost continuously from 11 a.m. Friday until 12:30 or 1:30 a.m. Monday.

There are 87 hockey clubs which use the arena once a week plus non-league teams playing challenge matches.

Between midnight and 8 a.m. the ice is available for $8 an hour, just enough to pay the overhead. Recently 350 youngsters enjoyed skating in the early hours.

Wednesday the ice is flooded from 8 a.m. to noon and again on Thursday. If possible another flooding is carried out so as to build up a good surface for busy weekend use.

Sometimes as many as 1,000 people skate on a Friday and nearly 1,200 on Sunday.

Next Monday the ice will be taken out for the summer but that doesn't mean the arena goes into mothballs.

There will be dancing, lacrosse, wrestling every week, plus special events including shows, exhibitions and other entertainments, at least one a month.

Daffodil Revue Starts Festival

One of the first items in Victoria's first Spring Flower Festival will be Victoria entertainer Fred Usher's Daffodil Revue at 8:30 Saturday night in the Empress ballroom.

Among the Victoria artists on stage will be the Molster singers, the Theatrical Arts Dancers with Roy Silver, the Homesteaders, organist Reginald Stone and the Empress Hotel Orchestra with Victoria singer Miss Terry Cain.

Tickets are available at Eaton's, the Hudson's Bay, the Empress, the Victoria Visitors Bureau and the Victoria Chamber of Commerce office.

MARINE PAGEANT
The Chamber of Commerce yesterday released a list of the events for the marine pageant Saturday, March 28.

The destroyer-escort HMCS Saskatchewan will hold open house at the CPR docks from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday. Children must be accompanied by adults.

PREDICTED-LOG RACE

An open predicted-log race for power boats, from near Coal Island to near Brothie Ledge, will finish at 3 p.m.

Entry forms must be turned in by 5 p.m. March 25 at the Chamber of Commerce office, where detailed information is available.

BIG GEORGE! by Virgil Partch

Chimp Partial To Home Life

CALGARY (CP)—Jiggs, an 18-month-old orangutan, may spend the rest of his life wondering why he isn't outside his cage at St. George's Island zoo here.

The solemn-faced youngster spent three weeks in the home of zookeeper Norman Winnick during an illness and liked the life so much he didn't particularly relish the idea of moving into his cage.

HAD A COLD
About a week before his illness Jiggs arrived in Calgary with two-year-old Maggie, who will be his mate. Both came from Borneo and when Jiggs was examined he was found to have a cold.

It settled in his chest and got worse, so he was moved into the Winnick house. The first thing Mrs. Winnick did was put Jiggs in a diaper and plastic pants.

"When he was hungry, he just climbed into the high chair and squealed," Mrs. Winnick says.

Garden Notes

Off with Their Heads

By M. V. CHENUT, FRHS

In the growing of sweet peas, the novice gardener finds it hard to understand why you should nip the tips off perfectly healthy seedling plants when they get to be four or five inches tall. The sweet pea grower of some experience, though, knows well that you get earlier and better flowers through this simple operation of beheading the baby plants.

He will know, too, that these "stopped" plants will continue to bloom longer into the season, for they have a better root system and a better growth foundation on which to keep the vine functioning.

Old-timers use a versatile and highly-trained thumbnail for this nipping job. Me—I borrow my wife's manicure scissors and clip away the top half-inch of vine from each little plant as it reaches the four-inch mark. As a result of this beheading, two or sometimes three strong shoots will emerge from the stem at or near soil level, and these make much more vigorous and healthy plants than the original "maiden" stem.

Don't allow all of these induced basal shoots to develop. Retain one single stem—the strongest—if you want super-doober blooms of exhibition quality, or two at the most if you want more flowers of good but not prize-winning status.

When we erect our sweet pea netting—fish net or chicken wire or what have you—there is nearly always a gap between the lower edge of the netting and the ground, and the young vines are expected to struggle upward across this five- or six-inch gap as best they can. This is a critical time in the life of a sweet pea vine, and all kinds of unpleasant things can happen—and usually do—before the vines get themselves safely attached to their support.

For instance, a gale of wind or a torrent of rain may batter the little plants into the ground, or they may topple over from their own weight before making it to the bottom of the netting. When this happens, while the vine tip will turn and grow upward again, the accident will often put a permanent kink in the stem—a kink that hampers the free flow of sap just as a kink in the garden hose will cut down the flow of water. Then, too, it is not good for the tender and delicate tip of the sweet pea vine to lie in contact with damp soil.

Support of some kind should be extemporized for the baby plants from the moment the growing tip first pokes its nose through the soil surface, and for this purpose I don't know of anything better than bushy little tree twigs, just tall enough to bridge the gap between the ground and the bottom of the sweet pea strings or netting. Just push the twigs into the soil around and between the seedlings in such a manner as to hold them upright.

These bits of twiggy brushwood actually serve two purposes. In addition to supporting the young vines until they learn to climb on their own, the bushy twigs serve to break the force of chilly spring winds and provide a little shelter for the infant plants at a time when they are most vulnerable.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Frank Sinatra to Rescue

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Frank Sinatra to the rescue. His picture None But the Brave will reopen the now-closed Warner Brothers studio early in May. The only sound you can hear today on the deserted lot is the hammering for the new Frank Sinatra building, a present to Frankie from Jack Warner. They are also leveling some land for Frankie's helicopter. Frankie is directing his picture—it will be his first effort.

From Don Murray: "I make big decisions immediately. I worry about little ones for days. But one should never worry about making a mistake. That's what I learned from my father. He was stage manager for Olsen and Johnson. He said to me, 'Son, I had to handle 500 different cues. Once in a while I missed one and if I worried about it, I'd be sure to miss 12 more.' You get the point? Don, who doesn't want to be typed as a portrayer of religious roles—he's Dr. Norman Vincent Peale in One Man's Way—would like to play two more on the same lines before he gives them up entirely—Paster Neimoller who defied Hitler and was put in a concentration camp, and to give equal time to everyone, he might play a rabbi, too. Before this he plays the convicted murderer, Nathan Leopold.

Robert Stack was rich even before his $2,000,000 profit from The Untouchables. Now he will take a long vacation in Europe, where he will also make a movie, Cross of Iron. And he has a date for some big game hunting in Kenya with William Holden. It's a nice life.

A lot of Beate money is behind the Sir Michael Balcon bid to buy the British Lion studio at Shepperton from the British government. The boys have so much money they can afford to take a chance of losing some as the owners of a big motion picture studio.

The home Ingrid Bergman is building in the Barbados is for when she retires from her career. And I wouldn't hold my breath until that happens. Ingrid has always been ambitious, as an actress. And always will be, and I just can't see her twiddling her fingers 'neath tropical skies. We all have our dreams of retiring, but I'm afraid it would bore us to death, literally.

Marlon Brando's latest lecture to his friends—stay away from the perils of smoking. With all his campaigns it's amazing he finds so much time for acting. —the Ann-Margaret-Elvis Presley "thing" is in full flower again. Ann-Margaret is also ambitious, but not only for her career.

Now that Frank Sinatra, Jr., has been vindicated in the kidnapping case, shouldn't he take time out to study the art of singing and acting or does he want merely to be a singer with a band all his life?

Stephen Boyd made a stop in Bethlehem, Connecticut to visit an old friend, Dolores Hart at the Regina Laudis convent. Dolores is a novice, and special arrangements were made for the visit with the Mother Superior. Stephen and Dolores made some films together before she renounced her career to become a nun. Stephen is on his way to The Unknown Battle in Norway.

CHARLES McDOWELL Studies Neglect

Let's Have Happy Grass

An unpretentious, mimeographed news release came quietly, almost sneakily, in the mail the other day, but we recognized it instantly as a revolutionary document in the affairs of men.

We know now how it must have felt to read and comprehend the first announcements of the theories of men like Dr. Einstein, Dr. Freud and Dr. Spock. In truth, we probably would have missed the point of those, tossed them into the wastebasket and hurried on to unwrap the Congressional Record to find out what really important was going on.

But this modest little bulletin hit us right where we live, as the saying goes. It came from a magazine called Changing Times and it was a summary of research conducted by the dedicated scientists of the United States Department of Agriculture, Crop Research Division. The subject was grass.

The key quotation in the bulletin was this: "Too much fertilizing, mowing and watering not only encourages disease but can give grass the equivalent of a nervous break down... At this time of year your lawn is one of the few things around the place that will improve with a little studied neglect."

There you have it. Isn't that a memorable phrase, "a little studied neglect?"

According to the press release, we should all "go lightly on fertilizer until next September" and there is no need to think about watering the lawn until "it shows definite signs of wilting from drought." There is no mention of raking out dead weeds, crabgrass and lost toys, no mention of weed killers, no mention of war on grubs, slugs, borers and root-rotters, no mention of transplanting new sod to that bare place near the door to the back porch where guests kept sinking into the mud last summer right up to their Bermuda shorts.

"Studied neglect"—that seems to cover everything, and it is good enough for us.

The bulletin does say something to the effect that the advice applies specifically to bluegrass and red fescue, but in another place there is an implication that it also applies to any non-exotic grass (zoysia and such stuff) that thrives where bluegrass and red fescue thrive. And they thrive almost everywhere, don't they?

Meanwhile it is important that nobody miscalculate the importance of the bulletin. The essence of it is the doctrine of studied neglect, coupled with the warning that too much attention can give your grass a nervous breakdown. Some people, particularly wives, may tend to miscalculate the importance of that.

We are suggesting to the magazine that it distribute neatly-printed cards bearing a summary of studied-neglect recommendation, suitable for framing and hanging in the utility room, kitchen or wherever it will do the most good. For those of us who accept the theory as gospel, and plan to live by it, this sort of documentation will be helpful.

Everyone should remember at all times that what we have here is more than a theory—it is a mission to preserve the mental health of our grass. Let us resolve to have happy, carefree grass this spring and to protect it from worrisome pressures all summer long.

JACK SMITH Takes Charge

Cooking Is Really No Trouble

Over the weekend my wife came down with this year's chic bug. It isn't serious, but I found it annoying.

The symptoms appear to be lassitude, with a drawl from the human race, delusions and a gravel throat.

I don't mind doing the housekeeping when I'm in the mood. A little light physical work is refreshing. But I'm in the midst of writing a book and the boys are bogged down in thesis on James Joyce and Oscar Wilde.

We're all operating under a severe intellectual strain. The very air is heavy with Jonsson gibberish and Wilde paradox. It is not an amiable atmosphere for domestic drudgery.

However one must eat. "I'll get up and fix dinner," my wife said the first day in a voice like Greta Garbo dying in Camille.

"Stay in bed," I ordered. "We don't want any Typhoid Mary pawing around the kitchen."

We had been in emergencies before. We went down the hill to the supermarket and got three pounds of hamburger.

I had to get out the old frying pan, the one we used to take on campouts. I shaped the hamburger into three oblong mounds and put them in the pan and turned it on high.

We left the steaks sizzling in the pan and went back to our literary projects. Five minutes later I went back in the kitchen to turn the steaks over, according to plan.

Balls of hot grease were dancing in the pan and blue clouds of smoke were churning up. The boys came running in. The smoke billowed against walls and ceiling. It eclipsed the light.

"Turn down the burner!" I commanded. "Open the windows! Open the doors!"

We dashed back and forth in the thick air, attending to our various assignments, bumping wildly against each other in the murk and confusion.

In a moment the situation was in hand. Fresh air was pouring in through the windows and distributing the smoke throughout the house. We could breathe again.

"It was my fault," I admitted. "I shouldn't have used that greasy old pan. Rack it up to experience, I guess."

"Experience," said my younger son, "is the name every one gives to their mistakes."

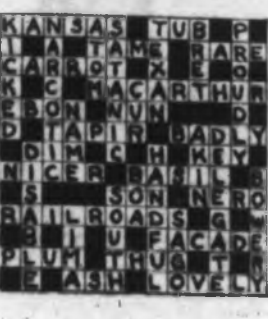

"I suppose then," I said, with a strong sense of having heard all this before, "one shouldn't commit any."

"Life," he said, "would be very dull without them."

We cut a beam of lettuce three ways and had steaks and lettuce. "What did you have for dinner?" my wife croaked when I went in to check her condition. "Salisbury steak," I told her, "and Caesar salad."

Truth, as Oscar said, is rarely pure.

'Thank God Almighty... I'm Free'

SPOKANE (AP)—"Thank God Almighty, I'm free." The words of an old Negro spiritual came back to Charles Cauthen when he heard Monday Gov. Albert Rosellini had refused to extradite him to Georgia to face the electric chair on a charge of murder.

One of Cauthen's attorneys, Carl Maxey, said the 26-year-old Negro "almost fainted" when told the news in his Spokane county jail cell.

Maxey said Cauthen will return to Warden, Wash., as soon as he is released by U.S. district Judge Charles Powell and possibly will work on a farm in the vicinity. Rosellini said he had refused to honor the extradition request of Georgia Gov. Carl Sanders.

"It is my feeling there is serious doubt as to the guilt of this young man," Rosellini said. "I feel the best ends of justice are met by denying the application for his extradition and by allowing him to remain in this state."

Rosellini, however, placed Cauthen under the supervision of the state parole board.

Cauthen escaped jail in Seabolt, Ga., three days before he was scheduled to be executed in 1959. He was convicted of robbing and killing a white station operator, Elijah Perkins, at Griffin, Ga.

After his escape, Cauthen rode freight trains north and ended in Warden, where he worked as a farm hand.

When the FBI arrested him on fugitive charges last summer, Cauthen claimed he was innocent of the Georgia killing and the people of Warden, mainly farmers, came to his defence.

A battery of attorneys and the American Civil Liberties Union helped him fight extradition, and college students of the area held a benefit "hootenanny" to help defray expenses.

Romanian Peacemakers

Reds Fail to Patch Sino-Soviet Fight

MOSCOW (AP)—A delegation from Communist Romania talked to Soviet Premier Khrushchev Monday on the way back from what was believed to have been a peace-making mission to Peking. And there was strong indication the Romanians carried bad news.

While the Romanians met Khrushchev at Gagra on the Black Sea, Communist China renewed its attack on the Soviet leadership. So did Albania, Peking's ideological ally in Europe.

Some diplomats in Moscow speculated that the news brought back by the Romanians made clear that patching up the Soviet-Chinese quarrel is impossible at this time and Khrushchev will speak out soon. Some international Communist leaders believe peace in the camp is impossible.

The Romanian delegation, headed by Premier Gheorghe Maurer, flew to Gagra Sunday, after a week's stay in China. Soviet sources said they made the trip with the knowledge of Soviet party leaders who have been seeking a way out of the increasingly bitter deadlock between Chinese and Soviet Communist party leaders.

During the period of the Romanian visit, the Chinese broadcast no attacks. Earlier they had assailed Khrushchev unrelentingly.

Vast Water Plan Labelled Fantasy

A $100,000,000 30-year plan to harness power from "wasted" water that flows into the Arctic and Pacific Oceans, was outlined yesterday by a Los Angeles-based engineering and construction service company and described as pure fantasy by B.C. Water Resources Minister Williston.

Mr. Williston said the proposal, known as the North American Water and Power Alliance plan, wouldn't affect provincial hydro plans at all. He did not take it seriously. Was it within the realm of possibility a reporter asked him? It was in the realm of pure fantasy, he replied.

Schooldays Budget

Benefits Students —But Few Others

WAIT TILL '65

OTTAWA (CP)—A stand-pat schooldays budget unveiled last night in the Commons by Finance Minister Walter Gordon left income and sales tax rates unchanged and aimed at a one-third cut in the budgetary deficit to $455,000,000 in the 1964-5 fiscal year starting April 1.

The reason Mr. Gordon's budget contained so few tax changes, he said, was that the government had decided to postpone major changes until it gets the report of the royal commission on taxation later this year.

He added that important changes in tax legislation can be expected next year and the year after that.

'Greatest Threat NDP'

NANAIMO (CP)—Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi said Monday night that "Socialism is the greatest threat we have in our nation."

He was commenting at a Social Credit meeting on the defeat of Earle Westwood, former recreation minister, in the last election.

Mr. Gagliardi said he found it hard to believe a man who did as much as any to bring government ferries to Nanaimo would not receive outstanding approval.

WON BY STUPID
Nanaimo and The Islands riding was won by David Stupich of the NDP.

Terming the NDP "controversial," Mr. Gagliardi said "today they criticize, tomorrow when you do it they go around the country saying they did it."

"Cheap hydro power and the province's great resources will make B.C. more industrialized than Eastern Canada in 15 years," he predicted.

The extension of the monthly $10 family allowance to full-time students age 16 and 17 was the most spectacular item in Mr. Gordon's second budget speech.

Detailed coverage of the budget and Mr. Gordon's speech to the Commons will be found on pages 3 and 4.

His budget benefits were relatively scanty: $3,000,000 worth of tax reductions and $43,000,000 of extra spending in a full year for the added family allowances.

LATER THIS YEAR

Mr. Gordon, urging increased investment in Canadian industry by all Canadians, announced there will be legislation later this year allowing life insurance companies to invest more of their assets in equity stocks. The present limit is 15 per cent of their assets in stocks, with a requirement that preferred stocks have a five-year record of dividends and that common stocks have a seven-year dividend record.

Ruling out overall incentives for the growing economy—including any copying of the massive United States income tax cuts—Mr. Gordon adopted a "spot removal" approach to the problems of depressed areas.

SAME TIME

At the same time Mr. Gordon disclosed a retreat from last year's budget measures aimed at encouraging foreign-controlled companies in Canada to make available a minimum 25 per cent of stock in those companies to Canadian investors.

He wiped out the increase that was to have taken effect next Jan. 1 in the withholding tax on earnings moved out of Canada from companies which don't meet that objective. The tax was to have risen to 20 per cent from 15.

KEPT CARROT

While removing this "stick," he retained last year's "carrot"—the cut in the tax to 10 per cent for companies making available the desired 25-per-cent junior partnership to Canadians.

Mr. Gordon said that because of the prospective reduction in U.S. corporation tax rates, there will still be "a sufficiently strong inducement" to achieve his goal.

TAX EASEMENT

Mr. Gordon's budget changes didn't touch taxes on tobacco or alcoholic products, except for a tax easement allowing imported Scotch whisky to enter Canada in 25-ounce bottles.

There was no firm word on when family allowances will be extended to 16 and 17-year-olds staying at school. Mr. Gordon said legislation on this will be introduced after Parliament's Easter recess which ends in April.

Informants indicated the change won't be until Sept. 1. The allowance — $6 monthly for children under 10 and $8 for older ones up to their 16th birthdays—would be $10 between the 18th and 19th birthdays. The deduction from taxable income for the parent—$50 for children

Highlights

- Income and sales tax rates left unchanged.
- Family allowances of $10 a month for full-time students aged 16 and 17.
- Maximum deduction of $470 in 1964 tax year for children aged 16 and 17 receiving family allowance.
- Deduction from taxable income of tuition fees paid by part-time students.
- Maximum $550 deduction for wholly-dependent brother or sister, 21 or over, if full-time student.
- Tax incentives for new industry in 35 slow-growth areas extended to March 31, 1967.
- Tax reductions cost federal treasury $5,000,000 a year; extra $43,000,000 for added family allowances.
- Tax deductibility allowed for costs of a taxpayer in appealing income tax assessments.
- Effective immediately, broad allowed duty-free entry from most countries, including U.S.

Canadian Troops Arrive in Cyprus

NICOSIA (CP)—A small crowd of Greek-Cypriots clapped and shouted "Welcome" at Nicosia airport Monday night as the first operational troops for the United Nations Cyprus force arrived.

The 53 Canadians, wearing the blue UN berets and carrying rifles in their hands, some with fixed bayonets, came down the two airplane ramps at the double.

They ran across the tarmac to line up by the side of an RCAF Yukon aircraft for inspection by the acting commander of the UN force, Maj-Gen. Carlos Flores de Paiva-Chaves of Brazil.

After a grueling 24-hour flight from Valcartier, Que., the Van Doos came off their planes looking fresh and with knifed-edged creases in their khaki battledress.

A party of senior UN and Cypriot officials exchanged appreciative murmurs as the men, from the 1st Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment, lined up at stiff attention under the glare of attention lights and popping flashbulbs.

Turks Will Go If Need Arises

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI)—The Turkish grand assembly Monday authorized Premier Ismet Inonu to dispatch troops to Cyprus should the need arise, Ankara radio reported.

The assembly endorsed the motion by Inonu which called for the possible landing of troops under the 1960 treaty of guarantee that granted Cyprus independence and was signed by Greece, Turkey and Britain.

The move followed Turkey's withdrawal of its threat Friday to intervene on the island in one of the tensest moments in the crisis since fighting flared on Cyprus last Christmas.

Carrier Ready

HALIFAX (UPI)—The navy and the army rushed Monday to load the aircraft carrier Bonaventure "as soon as possible" for a two-week emergency voyage to Cyprus.

The ship, carrying some 97 soldiers and 54 vehicles for Canada's UN contingent, was due to leave port Wednesday afternoon. But a naval source said, "we could sail tonight if we had to."

Behan Fights For Life

DUBLIN (UPI)—Playwright Brendan Behan, so critically ill he received the last sacraments of the Roman Catholic Church Sunday night, is emerging slowly from a deep coma in a "great fight" for his life, a hospital spokesman said Monday.

The spokesman cautioned that the 41-year-old writer "is still gravely ill and very much on the critical list." He said Behan is "just about conscious" and "we would give him a 50-50 chance of living."

Behan was admitted to Meath Hospital last Tuesday for treatment of jaundice.

Twelve Cars Stranded

No Payload, No Ferry

There weren't enough motorists stranded Sunday night at Tsawwassen when the last ferry left; otherwise an extra sailing might have been scheduled, an employee of the ferry service indicated yesterday.

At least 12 cars were left at the mainland terminal after the 9 p.m. ship was filled to capacity, and despite the urging of several stranded Islanders, ferry officials refused to provide an extra run to the Island.

In the absence of B.C. Ferry Authority manager Monty Aldous and his assistant, a woman in the ferry office said such extra sailings are not undertaken unless there is sufficient traffic to make a paying load.

"They (the 12 drivers) were probably late arrivals, anyway," she said.

Hit by Legion

A plan to integrate community and veterans' hospitals may encounter stiff opposition from the Royal Canadian Legion.

Veterans' Affairs Minister Roger Teillet announced in the Commons yesterday that his department will purchase the services it requires from community level authorities, after negotiating transfer of current veterans' facilities from the DVA to the community level.

Royal Canadian Legion zone commander S. J. Mayzes said yesterday the Legion has been opposed to the plan since it was first suggested last year.

Mr. Mayzes said he believes the government to be acting in good faith in attempting to relieve the current shortage of hospital beds, but Legion members are fearful veterans will not receive the treatment they are now getting.

"There is a shortage of hospital beds in Victoria right now," Mr. Mayzes said, "and anything we could supply would be a drop in the bucket."

"In the meantime, applicants for admission to veterans' units may have to wait until this new arrangement can accommodate them."

Proper Treatment?

"We are not seeking preferential treatment," he said, "but this is a question whether the other hospitals will be able to supply proper treatment."

"We definitely anticipate a curtailment of treatment under this plan."

The veterans' affairs minister, in announcing his plan yesterday, said certain conditions must be met where the transfer of authority takes place.

One condition was that the community hospital must provide immediate accommodation for veterans with service-connected disabilities, and treatment standards must not decrease.

Arrangements must also be made for out-patient care in the patient's own community.

The proposal was first made last year after the Glasco Royal Commission into federal government operation, and was immediately opposed by legionnaires.

Royal Jubilee Hospital administrator George Masters said yesterday he thought the plan was a good one.

He said if Royal Jubilee took over operation of the adjacent Veterans' Hospital in Victoria, expansion of services would assure adequate accommodation for veterans and the general public alike.

Veterans' Hospital administrator Norman Beatty said he had not been officially informed of the plan and could not comment on it, or any possible ramifications.

More Problems Here

Mr. Mayzes said Vancouver Island had a greater veteran-citizen ratio, and because of this there may be added problems in this area.

"We will wait and review the matter," he said, "but there will be opposition to the plan later this week at the zone meeting."

In the Commons Gordon Churchill (PC-Winnipeg South Centre), former Progressive Conservative veterans minister, charged the step "is a betrayal of the veterans of this country."

Mr. Churchill said Mr. Teillet's announcement will be received with dismay by the veterans and their families.

The change was being made not as the wish of the veterans themselves but as the whim of the Liberal government.

He said that when such a proposal came before the former Conservative government in the report of the Glasco royal commission the previous government took the stand: "Hands off our veterans' hospitals."

He said that before acting with "such haste" the government should empower the Commons veterans affairs committee to make an examination of the circumstances.

Insult to Veterans

"A hasty program like this is an insult to the veterans of Canada," he said.

Mr. Teillet said that after the First World War veterans hospitals progressively deteriorated until just before the Second World War "they had earned a deservedly unenviable reputation."

Mr. Churchill called this statement a "shocking condemnation" of hospitals which had earned a high reputation.

Mr. Teillet said it is becoming "more and more problematic" whether federally operated veterans hospitals can maintain current high standards under a changing patient load.

Staff recruiting problems were becoming "alarmingly acute" and "we are coming dangerously close to the unhappy situation which prevailed in the veterans hospitals just prior to the Second World War."

He said the only way to ensure excellent care "is to make the treatment of veterans an integral part of a larger, more active, more on-going operation."

Along with two male students, one from Montreal and one from Ottawa, Miss Grant will spend this summer in India and Israel, observing some of the countries' health problems.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wylie Grant, she will work at Ratlam Mission Hospital in Ratlam, Central India, 400 miles from Bombay, as a qualified laboratory technician. She will teach students as well as assist in clinical work.

Brownsey Derby Winner

DUNCAN—A total of 110 junior anglers Sunday caught 29 fish at the Moose Lodge fishing derby and Mark Brownsey caught the biggest fish, a three-pound, 11-ounce cut-throat at Quamichan Lake.

He won a rod and reel set. The derby at the lake and tributary streams, was organized by Moose Lodge member Jim Carson, and the two judges were Arnie Williams, Cowichan Fish and Game Association and Donald Morton, North Cowichan reeve.

Runners-up included Danny Teibot, R. Brenton and Pamela Jickling.

4-H Club Planned

DUNCAN—A second 4-H Beef Club is being formed south of the Malahat and an organizational meeting for the new group at Lunton will be held there Wednesday.

The leader will be Arthur Kiteley, and so far 10 youngsters have expressed interest in joining, said 4-H supervisor Ken Jameson at Duncan.

Lake Folks Demand End of Dump

The Prospect Lake Community Association has demanded immediate closing down of the Greater Victoria garbage dump at the end of Hartland Road near Killarney Lake.

The association yesterday sent a letter to a number of municipal and provincial government bodies and officials saying the responsible authorities have been "totally negligent in their duties" regarding the dump.

"We demand these authorities take immediate steps to close down this dump and thus remove this reprehensible blot on the beauty of Saanich, and threat to the health of a great many residents."

Members of the association said yesterday that the dump is contaminating both streams flowing into Killarney Lake, which in turn feeds Prospect Lake, and Tod Creek, which drains into Tod Inlet near the Butchart Gardens.

They emphasized that they are demanding closure of the dump and they believe no measures could be taken which would make the dump acceptable at that site.

There is scarcely any earth there, they said, and therefore a sanitary land-fill operation would be impossible, since there is nothing to fill with.

Garbage from Victoria, Saanich, Central Saanich and Sidney is dumped at the site.

Yesterday's letter from the association was addressed to the reeve of Saanich.

Copies have gone to the provincial government ministers of health and welfare, municipal affairs, and recreation and conservation; to the chief B.C. forest ranger, and to Saanich MLA John Tisdale.

Other copies have gone to Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread of the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health; to the mayor and council of Victoria; to the reeve and council of Central Saanich and to the village chairman and commission of Sidney.

Association members yesterday produced a letter from Dr. R. M. Petrie of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory saying that smoke from the dump has been interfering with the observatory's work.

Dump Mountainous

The association's letter says the dump now is of mountainous proportions.

"Apparently poison has been set to kill rats, which has resulted in hundreds of dead rats, seagulls and wild fowl being scattered throughout the woods and on private property."

"Seepage from the dump is rapidly polluting the entire area. . . . The fire hazard is high in dry weather, live embers actually falling at Prospect Lake. Smoke pollution is a menace in some districts."

"Literally thousands of seagulls flock on Prospect Lake,

dropping decaying food, partially empty food tins, bones, etc., in the lake and on the surrounding properties."

Association president G. A. C. Denford said the association has been fighting the dump for some 10 months without success. "It's going to ruin the whole lake district."

And Henry Robinson, who operates a farm near the dump, said what area residents fear is superficial improvements will be made at the dump, removing pressure against it for six months or so. He said this is the last thing area residents want—they want the dump out.

110 at Rally

Paint-Up Plan Well-Received

The pep rally designed to win support of businessmen for the proposed downtown paint-up scheme yesterday drew 110 to a luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

Ald. A. W. Toone, chairman of city council's beautification committee, said he accepted their presence at the meeting as a clear indication of "your interest in the plan."

"I hope it also means that you will help us carry it through to completion," the chairman said.

PROVEN ELSEWHERE Ald. Toone said it has been proven elsewhere, both on this continent and in Europe, that implementation of a proper paint-up plan is good for business.

In addition to painting, however, Ald. Toone added: "It is essential that storefronts be improved, especially in the matter of improving untidy or garish signs, using better lettering, and having attractive awnings."

"It is the full composite effect that has the most meaningful impact. This is what really counts," he said.

The chairman said the first working meeting in the program, for those property owners and tenants in the first area to be covered, Government Street's "tourist row" will be held at city hall March 25.

COLOR SCHEMES At this time details of the plan and color schemes selected for individual buildings will be explained.

"With co-operation," said Ald. Toone, "results in this area should become apparent before summer."

He stressed that any property owners or tenants in the other four designated areas who plan to re-decorate in the near future are welcome to seek free advice from city hall at any time.

Mayor R. B. Wilson talked briefly about the city's stake in downtown paint-up. He said the city centre was at the crossroads.

"If landlords and tenants are unwilling to improve the appearance of their buildings. . . it is most likely that new and more attractive areas will develop and property values in the central core deteriorate."

"There is still time, if we bestir ourselves, to paint-up and pretty-up an area that has tremendous attraction and appeal."

The mayor added: "We believe that it is just good commonsense to take advantage of the program we are promoting at city hall. Through it values can be maintained and improved with comparatively modest outlay."

Roderick Clark, architectural and special projects consultant, said the aim of the program is simple—"to make a better Victoria."

Soloist From Nanaimo Wins Festival Honors

NANAIMO—Barrett Kushner of Nanaimo has been chosen as the outstanding solo competitor of the Upper Island Musical Festival. (See also Page 10.)

The festival committee, composed of James Hurford, president, Joe Bertram, vice-president, Mrs. Lew Benson, secretary, Ernest Cresswell, treasurer, Mrs. Joe Bertram, assistant secretary, and Mrs. Ellen Brown, life member, awarded the honor to Barrett who had won the intermediate piano championship and outstanding marks in violin classes in the festival.

With this honor, Barrett is eligible to compete for a scholarship donated by Mrs. Phyllis Schults of Vancouver. Exact date of the scholarship competition will be announced later, but it is known it will follow the Kiwanis British Columbia Musical Competition Festival early in May.

Native of Nanaimo Dies Here at 82

NANAIMO—Mrs. Isabel Margaret Boyer, 82, native of Nanaimo and resident of Duncan for more than 30 years, died Saturday in St. Joseph's Hospital, Victoria.

She had been a patient in a private hospital for the last three years.

Mrs. Boyer moved from Duncan to Victoria when her husband, George, died in 1944. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Leask, Nanaimo, pioneers. Survivors include a brother, William Leask, Nanaimo, one niece and two nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. today at Hirst's funeral home, Duncan, with burial in the family plot, Duncan cemetery. Rev. B. Knipe, Duncan United Church, will officiate.

Parksville Man Facing Trial

NANAIMO—Mr. Justice J. G. A. Hutchison of Vancouver is presiding judge of the third case of the spring assizes here. Robert Joseph Hicks, 18, of Parksville, has pleaded not guilty to a charge of rape and is being defended by Nanaimo lawyer Ralph Hutchinson. The charge involves a 21-year-old Parksville woman.

Parsons Company would "utilize the excess water of the northern western territories and distribute it to the water-scarce areas of Canada, the western United States and northern Mexico in sufficient quantities to assure adequate supplies for the next 100 years."

The NAWPA proposes the collection of about 20 per cent of surplus water from the Fraser, Yukon, Peace, Athabasca and other rivers of Alaska, B.C. and Yukon Territory. It would be elevated a short distance to flow southward through a giant tunnel and canal system.

HOLD-OVER STORAGE
A 500-mile-long reservoir 3,000 feet up in the Rocky Mountain Trench near Banff and Jasper National Parks would provide a hold-over storage, says the plan.

The company estimates that the scheme would produce a gross annual income of $4,000,000 from the sale of 100,000,000 kilowatts of power, 147,000,000 acre feet of irrigation water and 37,000,000 acre feet for industrial and municipal use.

Boys Toss Bomb

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—RCMP said Monday three boys played "chicken" with a live mortar bomb for 30 minutes before turning it over to police.

The boys found the two-inch bomb about 50 feet down an embankment at Kalamalka Lake south of here while on a cycling trip Sunday.

They tossed the bomb to each other, yelling "chicken", for 30 minutes before one of them persuaded the others to turn it over to RCMP.

VICTIM'S FRIEND
Police called bomb disposal experts. They said one of the boys was a friend of two Boy Scouts killed by a mortar bomb near here last year.

Capt. D. R. Yeomans of the army's disposal squad here repeated warnings that persons finding the Second World War bombs should not touch them but report them to authorities.

The extension of the monthly $10 family allowance to full-time students aged 16 and 17 was the most spectacular item in Mr. Gordon's second budget speech.

Detailed coverage of the budget and Mr. Gordon's speech to the Commons will be found on pages 2 and 3.

LATER THIS YEAR
Mr. Gordon, urging increased investment in Canadian industry by all Canadians, announced there will be legislation later this year allowing life insurance companies to invest more of their assets in equity stocks. The present limit is 15 per cent of their assets in stocks, with a requirement that preferred stocks have a five-year record of dividends and that common stocks have a seven-year dividend record.

Rolling out over-all incentives for the growing economy—including any copying of the massive United States income tax cuts—Mr. Gordon adopted a "spot remover" approach to the problems of depressed areas.

SAME TIME
At the same time Mr. Gordon disclosed a retreat from last year's budget measures aimed at encouraging foreign-controlled companies in Canada to make available a minimum 25 per cent of stock in those companies to Canadian investors.

He wiped out the increase that was to have taken effect next Jan. 1 in the withholding tax on earnings moved out of Canada from companies which don't meet that objective. The tax was to have risen to 20 per cent from 15.

KEPT CARROT
While removing this "stick," he retained last year's "carrot"—the cut in the tax to 10 per cent for companies making available the desired 25-per-cent junior partnership to Canadians.

Mr. Gordon said that because of the prospective reduction in U.S. corporation tax rates, there will still be "a sufficiently strong inducement" to achieve his goal.

TAX EASEMENT
Mr. Gordon's budget changes didn't touch taxes on tobacco or alcoholic products, except for a tax easement allowing imported Scotch whisky to enter Canada in 25-ounce bottles.

There was no firm word on when family allowances will be extended to 16 and 17-year-olds staying at school. Mr. Gordon said legislation on this will be introduced after Parliament's Easter recess which ends in April.

Informants indicated the change won't be until Sept. 1. The allowance—$4 monthly for children under 10 and $8 for older ones up to their 16th birthdays—would be $10 between the 20th and 18th birthdays. The deduction from taxable income for the parent—$550 for children Continued on Page 3

Van Doo's Smart

NICOSIA (CP)—A small UN force, Maj-Gen. Carlos Flores de Paiva-Chaves of Brazil.

After a gruelling 24-hour flight from Valcartier, Que., the Van Doo's came off their planes looking fresh and with knife-edged creases in their khaki battle-dresses.

A party of senior UN and Cypriot officials exchanged appreciative murmurs as the men, from the 1st Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment, lined up at stiff attention under the glare of television lights and popping of flashbulbs.

Turks Will Go If Need Arises

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI)—The Turkish grand assembly Monday authorized Premier Ismet Inonu to dispatch troops to Cyprus should the need arise, Ankara radio reported.

The assembly endorsed the motion by Inonu which called for the possible landing of troops under the 1960 treaty of guarantee that granted Cyprus independence and was signed by Greece, Turkey and Britain.

The move followed Turkey's withdrawal of its threat Friday to intervene on the island in one of the tensest moments in the crisis since fighting flared on Cyprus last Christmas.

Carrier Ready

HALIFAX (UPI)—The navy and the army rushed Monday to load the aircraft carrier Bonaventure "as soon as possible" for a two-week emergency voyage to Cyprus.

The ship, carrying some 97 soldiers and 54 vehicles for Canada's UN contingent, was due to leave port Wednesday afternoon. But a naval source said, "we could sail tonight if we had to."

E. L. M. Burns Mediator?

OTTAWA (UPI)—Canada's globe-trotting Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns and Roltz Bennett, a member of the United Nations secretariat, are being considered for the delicate post of mediator in the Cyprus dispute, a highly-placed source said here Monday.

Some Other Time

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Procrustean Club of America announced Monday that last week was National Procrustean Week, to be observed by members at their convenience.

'Shortest' Sitting

Bennett Cuts Off Debate Again In House Blowup

Frayed tempers and a Bennett power play combined last night to bring one of the shortest legislative sittings in history.

The stage was set for a major blowup during afternoon debate which saw Premier Bennett branded a "Senator McCarthy" and his party a bedfellow of communism.

Behan Fights For Life

DUBLIN (UPI)—Playwright Brendan Behan, so critically ill he received the last sacraments of the Roman Catholic Church Sunday night, is emerging slowly from a deep coma in a "great fight" for his life, a hospital spokesman said Monday.

The spokesman cautioned that the 41-year-old writer "is still gravely ill and very much on the critical list." He said Behan is "just about conscious" and "we would give him a 50-50 chance of living."

Behan was admitted to Meath Hospital last Tuesday for treatment of jaundice.
